MRS. PERCY . . . whispers to husband at inquest.

Wife's 'Scream Of Terror' Woke Up Slumbering Percy

Chicago (UPI) — Mrs. Charled H. Percy, choking back sobs and her voice a near whisper, told a coroner's jury Thursday she "froze for a moment" and then screamed when she found a killer standing over the bludgeoned, stabbed body of her stepdaughter, Valerie, 21.

Percy, Republican senatorial candidate, testified that in the first wild moments after he was awakened by his wife's "scream of terror" he thought of the recent murder of eight Chicago nurses and feared Valerie's murderer "could still be in the house."

The Percys and Valerie's twin sister, Sharon, told for the first time in public their stories of the early morning of Sept. 18 when Valerie was slain in her second floor bedroom in the family's 17-room mansion in suburban Kenilworth.

Both Percy and Sharon said Valerie had no enemies they knew of.

Finding

After hearing the Percy's stories and deliberating 31 minutes, the jury found that Valerie was murdered the victim of multiple cerebral wounds and stab wounds. It urged the police to "continue their diligent search until the person is apprehended."

Kenilworth policeman Gary Wolson told the jury that "there are a number of suspects" in the crime. He did not elaborate.

Mrs. Percy was led gently over the event of the murder night and morning by Coroner Andrew J. Toman.

She testified that she heard "a noise and steps" but was not fully awakened.

Low Moan

"Then—I don't know how late after that—I heard a noise coming from one of our daughters' bedrooms . . . It was a low moan," she said. "It sounded as if someone was sick."

She got up to investigate, she said, and saw a light shining from under the closed door of Valerie's room. Mrs. Percy said she called out "Valerie? Val?" and opened the door. A man with a flashlight was bending over the girl's bed.

"I was frozen for a moment and stood there and I didn't say anything when he shined this light in my face—and I screamed," she said.

She testified that she closed the door, "called to my husband that there was someone in Valerie's room" and ran to a bell that triggered an alarm siren on the roof.

Awakened By Scream

Percy explained that he is a heavy sleeper unlike Mrs. Percy.

"I was fully awakened by her scream," he said. "It was a scream of terror. I was jolted by the alarm system . . .

"Mrs. Percy explained to me that there was someone in Valerie's room . . . 'She's been stabbed . . . Call the police.' " He did.

"I dashed into my daughter's room and there she was lying in bed. I recall distinctly seeing her right side covered with blood.

"I dashed down the front stairs, thinking I could apprehend the killer. I was dumbfounded when I reached the front door and found the door was bolted just as I had left it, with a chain. I looked at the back door and this was closed tight."

Conservation Commission Refuses To Back Republican River Group

The Nebraska Soil and Water Conservation Commission refused Thursday to support a local association in a dispute with federal officials over maintenance of the huge Republican River project.

The commission said the southwest Nebraska river channel must be maintained, and if necessary the Republican River Conservation Association should assume the maintenance costs, about $30,000 per year.

The U.S. Army Corps of Engineers has contended that maintenance of the river channel from the Trenton dam east to the Nebraska-Kansas boundary is a responsibility of the association, which has disagreed.

The commission took the action after Don Thompson of McCook, president of the local association, asked for support to change a long-standing federal policy which requires local agencies to maintain federally-financed soil and water projects.

"If there's no change in policy, I fear nothing will be done to maintain the (Republican) river," said Thompson. "Why should we have the responsibility to clear the channel when the Corps has complete control over the river?"

The commission agreed to launch a study into the need for possible policy changes but said such an investigation may take several years.

Add Millions

Deputy State Game Commission Director Willard Barbee said he does not believe a $30,000 annually outlay for maintenance of the river "is going to break the backs of those farmers."

Warren Fairchild, executive secretary of the commission, said he feels an offer made by the Corps is "a real good buy" for Republican Valley residents.

The Corps has said it would clean and straighten portions of the river channel in Nebraska at a cost of more than $1 million if a nonfederal agency would assume the annual maintenance costs.

Harold Beemer of Kansas City, Mo., an engineer for the district office of the Corps, told the commission that maintenance costs on the Republican River "will be less than flood damage if nothing is done."

In other action, the commission gave final approval to a 1967-69 budget request of $1,737,327, which includes funds to expand its watershed development efforts.

The commission earlier had tentatively approved requests for additional dollars for the state revolving fund for land purchases by watershed districts and for hiring of more personnel to accelerate the commission's watershed planning program.

Wesleyan And Doane Students OK 'Treaty'

Prior to the announcement, hundreds of Wesleyan students had been milling throughout the NWU campus looking for Doane "raiding parties" which were on the campus, apparently trying to recover the victory bell.

According to Evans a trade will be made during the half-time ceremony at the football game Friday night.

The Doane boys will provide enough "fresh sod" to replace the large area in the field where the D was burned. The Wesleyan students will return the victory bell to Doane.

Policeman Breaks Leg Nabbing Boy

Keech spotted the boy driving a car reported stolen by Kelley Stickel of 3530 J. After a short car chase, the youth abandoned the car and Keech captured him after a foot race.

Keech suffered the broken leg when he tackled the youth, 17, who is being held by police.

Johnson Invites Russian Chiefs

. . . HINTS HE'D VISIT USSR

Washington (UPI) — President Johnson proposed Thursday an exchange of visits with Soviet leaders in the interests of improving mutual understanding and respect and preserving world peace.

Johnson disclosed at a White House news conference he had told Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko Monday that he would welcome a visit to the United States by Premier Alexein Kosygin and Communist Party Chairman Leonid I. Brezhnev.

In mentioning an "exchange at the very highest level," the President implied his readiness to reciprocate by visiting the Soviet Union.

Johnson gave no indication how his invitation was received or whether it was likely to be accepted, nor did he say when such an exchange of visits might take place.

'Glad To Have Them'

"If they would like to come and see our country, we would be glad to have them," Johnson said after expressing optimism over the prospect of improved Soviet-American relations.

The President's disclosure came nearly a week after he announced plans for widening cooperative ties with Russia and Eastern European nations and one day after the administration ordered removal of restrictions against export of about 400 nonstrategic goods to those areas.

While going further in his attempt to heal Soviet wounds over Viet Nam, the President emphatically rejected suggestions of another pause in bombing of North Viet Nam as long as the communists fail to scale down their war effort accordingly.

"If the aggressor will pause, we will pause. If they will withdraw, we will withdraw," he said.

Obviously invigorated and jaunty after his return from two days of political campaigning in New York and Delaware, the President also:

—Denied there were any U.S. political considerations behind the timing of his 17-day Far Eastern tour and the Manila summit conference of Viet Nam, for which he departs Monday.

—Caustically welcomed the Republican Party's "historic move" to support Social Security legislation. "Now they are in a big hurry to pass it," he said.

—Said he wants to visit as many states as possible, White House business permitting, between now and the Nov. 8 elections, despite the Far East trip.

Asked about hopes of improving relations with the Soviet Union, the President said: "I am an optimist. I see no reason for the American people to fear the Russian people."

He noted relations had cooled, especially after the United States decided to act decisively in Viet Nam, but he said he had done or said nothing to make matters worse.

His White House discussions with Gromyko, he reported, were "helpful and fruitful and I believe they will be productive." But he said he did not want to raise false hopes.

Notes Pacts

Johnson noted commercial air and cultural exchange agreements between Moscow and Washington, efforts toward Senate ratification of a mutual consular treaty and negotiations for a law-in-space and nuclear nonproliferation treaties.

He said he told Gromyko their countries were the "two great powers in the world and that all others look to us to keep the peace."

The United States welcomed a Soviet leadership visit to America to further understanding and respect for each other, he said.

As for Viet Nam, the President said "we will always keep an open mind" about a bombing pause and "we'll make additional sacrifices if needed."

PRESIDENT JOHNSON

LBJ Labels Republicans Fear Experts

Wilmington, Del. (AP)—President Johnson, describing Republicans as experts on fear, urged Delaware voters Thursday to show pride in their President and their Congress by supporting democrats in the Nov. 8 congressional election.

He told a cheering crowd of more than 15,000 in downtown Wilmington that the Democrats are "your real friends."

Again, as he did Wednesday, Johnson accused Republicans of spreading fear in search of votes.

"The Republicans spread fear about inflation," Johnson said. "They are experts on both fear and inflation."

'End Scheming With Russians'

. . . EV, FORD HIT FEAR LABEL

Washington (AP) — Republican congressional leaders fired back at President Johnson Thursday for calling the GOP a party of fear, and demanded the administration stop its "trafficking" with the Russians.

"If dealing with the enemy, who are dealing in nothing but death to Americans in Viet Nam, is good business, then truth and honor have indeed been perverted beyond recall by this administration," said the GOP House leader, Gerald R. Ford of Michigan.

Ford And Dirksen

The election-year volleys come out of a joint news conference by Ford and Senate Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois.

Dirksen seized on Johnson's charge Wednesday that "Republicans are afraid of their own shadows," had no constructive programs and didn't know how to end the war in Viet Nam.

"Is the President bewildered?" Dirksen asked.

"Was he referring to his own administration? His statements actually spell out the most damning political self-indictment in modern political history."

'Blind, Deaf'

"If the President doesn't know about Republican programs," added Dirksen, "we can only assume that this administration has from its very first days been blind, deaf and indifferent."

Ford supplied most of the heavy artillery in the attack.

Ford recalled Johnson's words in a speech Oct. 7 when the President noted new U.S.-Soviet cultural and air agreements and announced new steps to expand trade with the Soviet block Ford quoted Johnson as calling this good business.

"Until the communist world convinces us by act, not by word, that it not only seeks peace but it will so act to prserve peace among men, e will not be a party toany arrangement, any treaty, with communists anywhere in the world," said Ford.

Trade Lever

Ford said he would use increased trade with the Soviet bloc as a bargaining point to get Russians to stop shipment of anti-aircraft missiles to North Viet Nam.

Further, Ford said, Russians have been supplying in increasing volume the weapons and ammunition that are killing American boys.

"As thousand of American boys fight, bleed and die, as the Soviet Union . . . announces an enormous further increase in its economic and military aid to our enemies," Ford added, "this administration must stop and stop now its trafficking with the Russians in ways that can only result in communist encouragement, growth and enrichment."

Fulbright Salutes

Johnson's views on East Europe got a salute from a man who has criticized more than praised the President's foreign policy — Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

Fulbright told the senate that Johnson's speech last week on Europe "showed clearly that we have determined, and I think wisely, to try to improve our relations with the Soviet Union and the communist countries of Europe at a time when these relationships are badly frayed, largely as a result of the war in Viet Nam."

Fulbright said he supported Johnson's determination to try to get action on a consular treaty with the Soviet Union and the East-West trade bill. Both have been locked up tight in Congress this year.

Johnson's recommendations, said Fulbright, seem "eminently sensible" and his speech reflected "a statesmanlike approach to our relationships with the Europe of today."

Recovery Inc. Self-Help Philosophy Helps Mental Patients' Transition

By LUCILLE HUTCHINSON
Star Staff Writer

"Adult life is guided by will rather than instincts."

This is the philosophy of Recovery, Inc., growing citizen groups in Lincoln concerned with mental health.

Self-leadership and self-help is the method of Recovery to help smooth the transition of former mental patients into society, to prevent relapses of former patients and to check chronicity in nervous persons.

The systematic method of self help after care is taught in weekly public Recovery meetings and mutual aid telephone calls.

Four of the seven Recovery groups in Nebraska are here in the Capitol City, according to Mrs. Barbara Fox, leader of the Wednesday night session held at Westminister Presbyterian Church.

Participant Too

Mrs. Fox, like every other group leader in the 30-year-old national non-profit organization, attends another weekly meeting as a participant. A chronic nervous patient before she joined Recovery, Mrs. Fox was a member of the group six months and took thorough training in the method at the Chicago headquarters.

Results of Recovery "are almost unbelievable," especially to professional psychiatrists and psychologists, Mrs. Fox declared.

With us citizens can learn ways to spot danger signals regarding their mental and emotional health and share with others various means of exerting self-leadership to control personal actions and reactions, she said.

"You don't have to scream or become physically violent. People can control their own muscles if they are willing," Mrs. Fox explained.

Normal Life

One Recovery member was a patient in the Beatrice State Home for 13 years, it was noted. He now is leading a normal life.

Adults from all walks of life are members: people recently discharged from mental institutions, people who have visited or are still under the care of psychiatrists but have never been committed or hospitalized, people diagnosed by their physicians as suffering from a nervous rather than a physical disorder, people who almost constantly suffer from tenseness, people who are painfully self-conscious and feel inadequate, and people who have difficulty with angry temper.

"There are even people who join Recovery because they believe that an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure," according to Mrs. Fox.

Recovery meetings, similar in format throughout the nation, consist of reading chapters or listening to recordings of the book, "Mental Health Through Will Training," written by the organization's founder, Dr. Abraham A. Low.

Then members of a self-help panel relate experiences of events in their daily lives where they applied Recovery techniques, followed with discussion. The emphasis is on establishing self-leadership.

"The encouragement of others and finding that I was not a rare case helped me lose my feeling of shame and stigma when I associated with other Recovery members," explained one participant.

"There is no sense of urgency in Recovery's way to health," said another. "The self respect I gained from each small victory over my fears gave me the courage and the incentive to keep on trying until I could conquer the strongest of my fears."

One Recovery member, noting that he has not had a setback in eight years, said "It gives me a feeling of security to know that I am equipped with a systematic method to help me over any rough spots in the future."

Recovery does not supplant the physician, but is entirely unsupervised by any professional medical or religious people. Only lay persons are allowed to participate in the panels and discussions, although professionals are welcome to observe meetings, Mrs. Fox noted.

Ten members from the Lincoln and Omaha groups will present a public panel Friday, Oct. 21 at 8 p.m. in the Bennett Martin Library auditorium to acquaint interested professionals and visitors with the Recovery methods.

Conservation Commission Refuses To Back Republican River Group

The Nebraska Soil and Water Conservation Commission refused Thursday to support a local association in a dispute with federal officials over maintenance of the huge Republican River project.

The commission said the southwest Nebraska river channel must be maintained, and if necessary the Republican River Conservation Association should assume the maintenance costs, about $30,000 per year.

The U.S. Army Corps of Engineers has contended that maintenance of the river channel from the Trenton dam east to the Nebraska-Kansas boundary is a responsibility of the association, which has disagreed.

The commission took the action after Don Thompson of McCook, president of the local association, asked for support to change a long-standing federal policy which requires local agencies to maintain federally-financed soil and water projects.

"If there's no change in policy, I fear nothing will be done to maintain the (Republican) river," said Thompson. "Why should we have the responsibility to clear the channel when the Corps has complete control over the river?"

The commission agreed to launch a study into the need for possible policy changes but said such an investigation may take several years.

State conservationist C. Dale Jaedicke of the U.S. Soil Conservation Service said a change in national polcy would add millions of dollars to the cost of public works projects.

Deputy State Game Commission Director Willard Barbee said he does not believe a $30,000 annually outlay for maintenance of the river "is going to break the backs of those farmers."

Warren Fairchild, executive secretary of the commission, said he feels an offer made by the Corps is "a real good buy" for Republican Valley residents.

The Corps has said it would clean and straighten portions of the river channel in Nebraska at a cost of more than $1 million if a nonfederal agency would assume the annual maintenance costs.

Harold Beemer of Kansas City, Mo., an engineer for the district office of the Corps, told the commission that maintenance costs on the Republican River "will be less than flood damage if nothing is done."

The commission earlier had tentatively approved requests for additional dollars for the state revolving fund for land purchases by watershed districts and for hiring of more personnel to accelerate the commission's watershed planning program.

Wesleyan And Doane Students OK 'Treaty'

A possible battle between Wesleyan University and Doane College students was averted by a truce Thursday night.

Prior to the announcement, hundreds of Wesleyan students had been milling throughout the NWU campus looking for Doane "raiding parties" which were on the campus, apparently trying to recover the victory bell.

According to Evans a trade will be made during the half-time ceremony at the football game Friday night.

The Doane boys will provide enough "fresh sod" to replace the large area in the field where the D was burned. The Wesleyan students will return the victory bell to Doane.

Kremlin Charges China Thwarting Viet Victory

Moscow (AP)—Premier Alexei N. Kosygin charged Thursday that Red China's obstruction undoubtedly had prevented a communist victory in Viet Nam.

Kosygin said China's refusal to cooperate with other communist countries in joint support for Vietnamese communists "renders a big service" to the United States.

The Soviet Union is providing "considerable additional assistance" for North Viet Nam, he said, adding:

"Military personnel for the armed forces (of North Viet Nam) are being trained in the Soviet Union."

Kosygin spoke at a Soviet-Polish friendship rally in Sverdlovsk, which he is visiting with Polish Communist leader Wladyslaw Gomulka and Premier Jozef Cyrankiewicz. The official Soviet news agency Tass reported Kosygin's speech.

Kosygin did not spell out just how China has hampered communist support for North Viet Nam and the Viet Cong.

Reports circulating here for more than a year concern Chinese obstruction of Soviet military aid shipments overland through China to Hanoi.

Never stated officially, the reports have not been officially denied either. Early this year the Soviet government sidestepped a Chinese demand that it deny them.

Impression

This has left some diplomats with the impression that the Kremlin wants the reports known without wanting to be directly involved in them.

Kosygin also criticized the "great cultural revolution" in China, saying it and other recent developments indicated that Chinese leaders are going further toward dividing the world communist movement.

Cyranklewicz condemned U.S. policy in Viet Nam and also assailed the Chinese.

Kosygin said China had rejected Soviet unity appeals. Communist interests "demand that a decisive rebuff be given to those who are trying to split the unity of the world communist movement," he said.

The mention of "a decisive rebuff" suggested to observers some possible move for other Communist Parties jointly to denounce China.

House Eyeing Boost In SS Benefits Now

Washington (AP)—A move to increase Social Security benefits now, instead of a year from now as the administration proposed, picked up powerful bipartisan momentum in the House Thursday.

The Ways and Means Committee, where all Social Security legislation originates, ordered draft legislation of several alternatives prepared. This was not a commitment to act on the drafts, but it did signal serious consideration of the proposal for a quick increase.

President Johnson said Thursday he would welcome, but not insist on, immediate action by Congress on his proposal. He did not get into specifics about the date when.

Major Smoke Cancer Agent Can Be Erased

Austin, Tex. (AP) — A major cancer-causing element in cigarette smoke has been discovered through research in Texas and the element can be eliminated, a member of the U.S. surgeon general's advisory committee said Thursday.

Dr. Charles A. LeMaistre, University of Texas vice chancellor for health affairs, did not realize newsmen were present when he disclosed the discovery at an organizational meeting for the Texas interagency council on smoking and health.

He declined to elaborate because he said he would be "betraying the confidence of the investigator," but he said the discovery would be published "in a scientific publication" in perhaps six months.

Progress Surprises Mac

Saigon (AP)—Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara said Thursday night "the rate of progress has exceeded our expectations" in military operations in Viet Nam over the last year. He suggested the swelling U.S. war effort will be pursued along its present lines.

"I saw nothing that in any way indicates a substantial change in the rate of operations, the tempo of operations, the type of operations in the months ahead," McNamara said in a statement on completing a four-day tour, his eighth visit to this war-torn country.

"I saw nothing that indicates any need for a change in the rate of deployment of U.S. forces in the months ahead."

B52s Hit DMZ

Another B52 raid on communist forces within the old Demilitarized Zone between the two Viet Nams, official acknowledgement of the loss of three more American planes elsewhere, and minor skirmishes aground marked McNamara's final hours in looking over a war that now claims the direct attention of 328,000 U.S. servicemen.

Informed sources said adherence to current policy means no extension of the 12-month tour of duty for American troops in Viet Nam.

Certain pilots and selected, specially qualified staff and advisory officers are called for longer service and some combat personnel stay on voluntarily. But military commanders and defense department officials consider an extension for the enlisted men would be unwarranted and would have an adverse effect on morale.

Ky, Thanh Praised

McNamara praised Premier Nguyen Cao Ky's government for its efforts to curb the inflation that spiraled menacingly last spring and the leadership of Brig. Gen. Nguyen Duc Thanh in promoting the rural reconstruction or pacification program.

Undersecretary of State Nicholas Katzenbach, who accompanied McNamara, told newsmen "much more must be done" in pacification in the countryside.

South Vietnamese servicemen bore the brunt of the losses among allied forces last week in the campaigning that, according to American officers, cost the communists 1,471 killed and 658 captured—a total of 2,129 put out of action.

The record bag of prisoners in the Phu Cat sector of the central coast swelled enemy casualties from the total of 1,342—1,104 killed and 238 captured — in the week of Sept. 25-Oct. 1.

91 Americans Killed

Over-all, 276 of the allies were killed and 38 were missing or captured last week, against 202 killed and 24 missing or captured in the previous week.

American losses declined slightly to 91 killed, 604 wounded and 17 missing from the previous week's 99 killed, 642 wounded and 12 missing.

Casualties among South Viet Nam's armed forces nearly doubled, with 160 men killed and 425 wounded against 87 dead and 268 wounded in action Sept. 25-Oct. 1.

Among the other allied forces, 25 men were killed and 70 wounded. In the previous week, their toll was 16 and 48.

American deaths from all causes in five years of war mounted to 6,664. Of these, 5,492 were in combat and 1,172 were classified as accidental. There were 30 such accidental deaths last week.

Mail Thieves' Loot Under $500,000

Montreal (AP) — Thieves hacked through a heavy mesh screen into the mail room at Montreal International Airport early Thursday and made off with 28 items of registered mail, some containing cash and bonds.

Police at first said the thieves took $1 million in bills destined for Montreal banks, but Montreal District Postmaster Hector Cormier said the theft amounted to "under $500,000 and by no means all in cash."

The theft took place while employes were off on a meal break.

Cormier said investigators found that the thieves took 28 registered envelopes and small pockets, containing money, shares, bonds and "other legal documents."

No Mail Bags

The registered items had been mailed by banks, large firms and individuals to points in Canada and the United States, he said. He added that the thieves did not take any mail bags.

Evidently familiar with the routine at the airport, the thieves struck while employes were eating lunch nearby between 4 and 4:45 a.m.

The theft was discovered at 5 a.m. Police immediately set up roadblocks at all exits to the airport but the thieves apparently had escaped.

Cormier said investigators are looking into the possibility that this was an inside job.

Four police forces joined the manhunt: the Royal Canadian Mounted, Quebec provincial, Montreal and suburban Dorval police. The robbery occurred in Dorval.

The thieves cut a seven-inch slit in the wire mesh of the door. Then they unlocked the door from the inside and entered the room, which is 40 by 50 feet.

Gross National Product At $746 Billion Rate

Washington (AP) — Increased consumer and Viet Nam war spending pushed the nation's gross national product to a record annual rate of $746 billion over the last three months.

The Commerce Department, in reporting this Thursday, said inflation ate up much of the third quarter gains of $13.7 billion but that a strong inflationary trend which marked the second quarter eased significantly between July and September.

Inflation, however, still accounted for 47% of the dollar rise in gross national product —the value of all goods and services produced on the economy—during the first nine months of this year.

$61.3 Billion Rate

Because of the Viet Nam war, military spending during the third quarter shot up by $4.2 billion to an annual rate of $61.3 billion.

Last January, the administration projected military spending at $57.15 billion for the fiscal year which began July 1, including about $10.5 billion for Viet Nam.

But the department figures indicate Viet Nam spending running at a rate of about $14.5 billion on an annual basis during the third quarter. It is expected to rise over the next nine months.

The department said its figures are subject to revision next month.

The department said state and local government purchases continued to expand during the third quarter while net exports were unchanged.

At $70 billion, an annual rate, purchases of consumer durable goods were up $3 billion from the second quarter to the peak rate registered durlng the first three months of the year. Auto purchases accounted for about half the increase.

Here's how inflation has eaten into the economy this year:

1. Of the first quarter increase in GNP of $16.8 billion, $6.4 billion or 38% resulted from price rises.

2. Of the second quarter increase of $11.1 billion, $7.8 billion or 70% resulted from price increases.

3. Of the $13.7 billion rise in the third quarter, $5.2 billion or 38% stemmed from price increases.

2 U.S. Cancer Researchers Win Nobel Prize

Stockholm, Sweden (AP)—Two U.S. cancer researchers were awarded jointly Thursday the 1966 Nobel Prize for medicine.

Dr. Charles Huggins, 65, University of Chicago, and Dr. Peyton Rous, 85, pathologist at Rockefeller University in New York, will share the cash prize of $60,000. Each also will receive a gold medal.

Huggins was cited for his discoveries concerning hormonal treatment of cancer of the prostrate. Rous was selected for his discovery of tumor-inducing viruses.

The awarding faculty of the Caroline Medical College noted that Huggins' greatest achievement in the medical field dated to a series of articles in the late 1930s, which later opened new paths for the treatment of certain types of cancer in the human body.

Huggins established in a number of experiments on dogs that the functioning of the prostate gland was entirely dependent on the production of male sex hormones, or androgens, in the testicles.

The Caroline Institute said Huggins also proved that female sex hormones, estrogens, could neutralize the androgenic reaction and thereby bring about atrophy of the prostate.

Huggins was the first to introduce nontoxic, nonradioactive derivatives of a known composition in the treatment of cancer and through this he became a pioneer in chemotherapy.

The institute, noted that in 1910 Rous discovered the first virus that evokes malignant growths of the sarcoma type in hens.

The institute said it is remarkable that the Rous virus, previously believed to be limited to poultry, has been found to evoke tumors in a large number of animal species including mammals.

This started a trend that seriously shook previous conceptions and raised an opinion in favor of the virus theory, once the stepchild of cancer research.

Efficient Production Goal Of Future Dairy Industry

By GLENN KREUSCHER
Farm Editor

Efficiency in dairying will be one of the most important goals in the future of meeting an expanded demand for dairy products.

Keynoting the two-day Dairy Fieldmen's Conference here Thursday Dr. Howard Ottoson, who will soon assume the directorship of NU agricultural experiment stations, said agriculture must place an emphasis on efficiency if it is to compete with other industries.

The importance of efficiency was also stressed throughout the day with P. H. Cole, NU extension dairyman, noting that the efficient, well-managed dairy herd that is economically competitive today will have the best chance of being economically competitive in the future.

Efficiency continues to be the sought-after trademark by the dairy industry, C. W. Nibler, NU extension dairyman, said, noting the average milk production of the state's dairy cows should be at least 10,000 pounds instead of the present average of 6600 pounds.

"Improved feeding and management practices, particularly keeping cows free of diseases and injuries would make it possible to increase the average age of dairy herds and thus market more milk per cow," Nibler said.

Nebraska News

The same efficiency that will be required of the dairyman will find its place in the T. A. Evans, NU extension processers role, according to dairy marketing economist.

"We still have more dairy plants than can survive on the volume of milk that Nebraska is now producing or is likely to produce in the next two or three years," he said.

Evans noted the increase in dairy products which he termed "fantastic." Now the housewife can choose from nearly 200 dairy items, if was pointed out.

He warned the fieldmen of the threat of imitation dairy products which he said has already invaded the California market in filled milk products that taste almost the same as regular dairy products.

"These imitation products are not readily available as yet but with an increase in popularity from the public, grocery chains would not long refuse to stock them," said Evans as he discounted the prospect of much legislative help for the dairy industry to prevent such trends.

Driving Days Over For Larsen, 99

By JOHN LEE
Outstate Nebraska Bureau

Fullerton — Yes, Christian W. Larsen has given up driving.

Chris figures he "came out pretty lucky" from his first accident, and "I thought I'd take no more chances."

He's 99 and was the oldest known driver in the state before he surrendered his license Oct. 4.

Larsen relates of the mishap, "I was driving out north of town to get a new battery for my car but they didn't have one to fit. It was a nice day, so I decided to take a little sight-seeing trip out along the Loup."

LARSEN . . . reads Dunlevey's letter.

"On the way back, I think I had a blackout. The car rolled over and landed on its side."

Car Demolished

He subsequently sent his operator's permit to State Motor Vehicles Director James Dunlevey with the simple explanation, "I think I am not able to drive right."

It arrived on Dunlevey's desk in the same mail that brought a request from Nance County Sherrif Forest Williams for authority to require Larsen to take a re-examination. He had been examined at 96, failing the first time around, but later being approved and found to have adequate vision.

'Appreciate Record'

Dunlevey replied with a letter that read, "I appreciate the good driving record you have maintained over the years and your decision to surrender your license when you concluded that you could no longer safely operate a motor vehicle."

Larsen, who came to this country from Denmark 98 years ago and has outlived his wife and six children moved to a Fullerton nursing home Sept. 1.

He's been driving "almost since autos came into use," he noted.

He bought his first car second-hand in Central City while he was operating an implement business in Primrose.

'Long Enough'

"I've been driving most of the time until now, and it's been long enough."

How does he feel about the much-discussed mandatory drivers license re-examination proposal?

"I think it would be all right," says Larsen. "Anything that would improve driving is just what ought to be done. I'm not sure I could pass now."

OPPD Sells $25 Million In Bonds

Omaha (AP)—Omaha Public Power District directors Thursday sold $25 million in electric revenue bonds to a syndicate headed by Halsey, Stuart and Co., Inc., for a net interest cost of 4.14021%.

Ted W. Metcalfe, president of the board termed this a "very satisfactory bid, especially in view of higher interest rates presently being charged."

Proceeds from the sale will help finance the OPPD construction program through early 1968. This includes completion of a fifth generating unit now under construction at the North Omaha plant. This 216,000 kilowatt plant is scheduled for completion in May, 1968.

Also included will be additional transmission lines and substations, the initial phases of engineering, right of way acquisition and construction of a new 345,000-volt transmission line from Rulo to Sioux City, Iowa; initial work on generating facilities at the Fort Calhoun nuclear plant; and other system improvements and replacements.

Hiram Scott College Tells Plans For Two Buildings

Scottsbluff (AP) — President Anthony Marinaccio of Hiram Scott College announced plans for a $2.75 million building project on the college's new campus in the north part of Scottsbluff.

He said a Kansas City architectural firm has been retained to design a new field house and a new social science building for the college, which has now passed the 1,400 enrollment mark although it is only in its third trimester of operation. The new buildings probably will be started late in 1967.

The field house will include four gymnasiums, four classrooms, locker rooms, offices, a swimming pool and space that can be utilized as a convention center for Scottsbluff.

The social sciences building will include a complete educational television center capable of originating programs. There will be six lecture halls, offices, and multipurpose rooms.

High School Youth Killed In Collision

Trumbull (AP) — A Hastings High School football player was killed Thur day in a county road intersection collision two miles east and a mile south of Trumbull.

He was David A. Snoberger, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Snoberger of Trumbull.

Young Snoberger was on his way to school in Hastings when the car in which he was riding alone was in collision with a station wagon driven by a Hastings veterinarian, Dr. William G. Kvasnicka, 36.

Kvasnicka was reported in satisfactory condition at a Hastings hospital.

The death was Nebraska's 332nd traffic fatality of the year compared with 295 on the same date a year ago.

Demo Assessor Nominee Injured In Auto Accident

Seward (AP) — The Democratic candidate for Seward County assessor, Leslie Nelson of Seward, was injured Thursday in a two-car accident on U.S. Highway 34, about 12 miles west of Lincoln.

He was brought to Seward Memorial Hospital where his condition was listed as serious.

Seward County Atty. Robert Cattle Jr. said an eastbound car driven by Nelson was in collision with a car driven by Steven Spiegel, 26, of 620 Capital in Lincoln. Spiegel was treated at St. Elizabeth hospital in Lincoln.

The safety patrol said fog had reduced visibility to less than one-eighth of a mile at the time of the mishap.

Demo Candidate Seeking To Keep Capitol Lights On

David City—"I don't want to turn out the lights on the State Capitol, and I don't want the state to take a big backward step in government," Lt. Gov. Philip Sorensen said Thursday night.

"When my opponent says he can find 'nothing to continue' of present state policies, he's urging that we go back to the days when Nebraska had a do-nothing governor, the lights on our beautiful state capitol building were turned off to save pennies in electricity costs, and the people of this state bowed their heads in shame.

"We need the kind of government that turns on the lights so we can proudly display our state government," Sorensen said.

Nebraskans want a government "that turns on the pride of a people in their state's activities encouraging tourism, enlarging the state's industrial activity and building the best that can be built in an educational system," he declared.

Earlier, in Hastings, Sorensen charged that Republican gubernatorial nominee Norbert Tiemann's announced opposition to Morrison programs "could cost this state several million dollars in the next four years in one program alone."

Investment of idle state funds in interest-bearing securities brings the state more than a million dollars a year in interest, Sorensen said.

Efficient Production Goal Of Future Dairy Industry

By GLENN KREUSCHER
Farm Editor

Efficiency in dairying will be one of the most important goals in the future of meeting an expanded demand for dairy products.

Keynoting the two-day Dairy Fieldmen's Conference here Thursday Dr. Howard Ottoson, who will soon assume the directorship of NU agricultural experiment stations, said agriculture must place an emphasis on efficiency if it is to compete with other industries.

The importance of efficiency was also stressed throughout the day with P. H. Cole, NU extension dairyman, noting that the efficient, well-managed dairy herd that is economically competitive today will have the best chance of being economically competitive in the future.

Efficiency continues to be the sought-after trademark by the dairy industry, C. W. Nibler, NU extension dairyman, said, noting the average milk production of the state's dairy cows should be at least 10,000 pounds instead of the present average of 6600 pounds.

"Improved feeding and management practices, particularly keeping cows free of diseases and injuries would make it possible to increase the average age of dairy herds and thus market more milk per cow," Nibler said.

Nebraska News

The same efficiency that will be required of the dairyman will find its place in the T. A. Evans, NU extension processers role, according to dairy marketing economist.

"We still have more dairy plants than can survive on the volume of milk that Nebraska is now producing or is likely to produce in the next two or three years," he said.

Evans noted the increase in dairy products which he termed "fantastic." Now the housewife can choose from nearly 200 dairy items, if was pointed out.

He warned the fieldmen of the threat of imitation dairy products which he said has already invaded the California market in filled milk products that taste almost the same as regular dairy products.

"These imitation products are not readily available as yet but with an increase in popularity from the public, grocery chains would not long refuse to stock them," said Evans as he discounted the prospect of much legislative help for the dairy industry to prevent such trends.

Driving Days Over For Larsen, 99

By JOHN LEE
Outstate Nebraska Bureau

Fullerton — Yes, Christian W. Larsen has given up driving.

Chris figures he "came out pretty lucky" from his first accident, and "I thought I'd take no more chances."

He's 99 and was the oldest known driver in the state before he surrendered his license Oct. 4.

Larsen relates of the mishap, "I was driving out north of town to get a new battery for my car but they didn't have one to fit. It was a nice day, so I decided to take a little sight-seeing trip out along the Loup."

LARSEN . . . reads Dunlevey's letter.

"On the way back, I think I had a blackout. The car rolled over and landed on its side."

Car Demolished

He subsequently sent his operator's permit to State Motor Vehicles Director James Dunlevey with the simple explanation, "I think I am not able to drive right."

It arrived on Dunlevey's desk in the same mail that brought a request from Nance County Sherrif Forest Williams for authority to require Larsen to take a re-examination. He had been examined at 96, failing the first time around, but later being approved and found to have adequate vision.

'Appreciate Record'

Dunlevey replied with a letter that read, "I appreciate the good driving record you have maintained over the years and your decision to surrender your license when you concluded that you could no longer safely operate a motor vehicle."

Larsen, who came to this country from Denmark 98 years ago and has outlived his wife and six children moved to a Fullerton nursing home Sept. 1.

He's been driving "almost since autos came into use," he noted.

He bought his first car second-hand in Central City while he was operating an implement business in Primrose.

'Long Enough'

"I've been driving most of the time until now, and it's been long enough."

How does he feel about the much-discussed mandatory drivers license re-examination proposal?

"I think it would be all right," says Larsen. "Anything that would improve driving is just what ought to be done. I'm not sure I could pass now."

OPPD Sells $25 Million In Bonds

Omaha (AP)—Omaha Public Power District directors Thursday sold $25 million in electric revenue bonds to a syndicate headed by Halsey, Stuart and Co., Inc., for a net interest cost of 4.14021%.

Ted W. Metcalfe, president of the board termed this a "very satisfactory bid, especially in view of higher interest rates presently being charged."

Proceeds from the sale will help finance the OPPD construction program through early 1968. This includes completion of a fifth generating unit now under construction at the North Omaha plant. This 216,000 kilowatt plant is scheduled for completion in May, 1968.

Also included will be additional transmission lines and substations, the initial phases of engineering, right of way acquisition and construction of a new 345,000-volt transmission line from Rulo to Sioux City, Iowa; initial work on generating facilities at the Fort Calhoun nuclear plant; and other system improvements and replacements.

More Liberal Investment Practices Proposed

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

Nebraska voters will be asked next month to consider two proposals which would broaden and liberalize investment policies and practices of state government and its political subdivisions.

The two proposals are contained in Amendment 12, submitted to a vote of the people by 42-0 approval of the Legislature.

The first proposition provides that educational funds of the state be invested as the Legislature may provide.

Investment of educational funds is now limited to U.S. or state securities, registered county bonds or school district bonds of the state, and "such other securities as the Legislature may from time to time direct."

However, the attorney general has held that the latter phrase does not permit investment in corporate stock because of a constitutional prohibition against the giving or loaning of the credit of the state in the aid of any individual, association or corporation.

Could Gain

Sen. Ramey Whitney of Chappell, chief sponsor of the bill proposing the amendment, argues that the state could gain two to three percent a year additional return on its investments by allowing funds to be invested in corporate stock.

Whitney tied his proposal directly to the bill ordering sale of the state's 1.6 million acres of school land. The school land sale measure cleared the 1965 Legislature and is now law.

Broadened investment authority, granted by passage of Amendment 12, would permit the Legislature to authorize investment of the funds from sale of the school lands — as well as money in the several permanent educational endowment and trust funds — in diversified securities which would earn more money for the state and its schools, Whitney contends.

Over a 12-year period, he told the Legislature, Nebraska would have earned $81 million more had school lands been sold and their proceeds invested in corporate stock. The figure would have been $40 million in additional income if the funds had been invested equally in corporate stock and government bonds, Whitney said.

Opponents of the proposal generally fought sale of the school lands, arguing that land is the safest and soundest investment for valuable school funds.

Having lost the school land battle, some opponents continue to warn against investment of funds in a risky, fluctuating market — and the recent, long-term market slump has only tended to heighten their fears.

The second proposal submitted in Amendment 12 would authorize the Legislature to provide for the investment of funds of the state and of cities, villages, school districts, public power districts and other governmental or political subdivisions by statute.

In effect, it would broaden investment policies for all state governmental funds, including retirement or pension funds, in the manner in which the first proposal would liberalize procedures for investment of educational funds.

Under the second proposal, governmental subdivisions of the state could invest retirement or pension funds as they wished subject to limitations prescribed by the Legislature.

Tax Relief For Teachers Lauded

Shelby (AP)—Republican congressional candidate Robert V. Denney has applauded the recent decision of the Treasury Department concerning tax deductions for teachers who take additional courses for self improvement.

"This is exactly the action I proposed while in Washington this summer and I am elated that it has been put into effect," he declared in remarks prepared for a Polk County Republican dinner.

Riding The Rails

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

If you don't get into trouble now and then with what you write, you must not be writing anything of interest. So the saying goes, and on that basis we write a lot of things of interest. Take yesterday, for instance. It was a beautiful day, the kind during which you sit in the office and look out the window, thinking how nice it would be to goof off if so many things were not pressing you.

Thus, you have a frame of mind both good and bad. As you turn to the business at hand, you think about the decline of passenger service on the railroads. This pricks the bad side of your frame of mind, not because you don't like the railroads but because they are favorites of yours. The first trips you ever took were by rail and the magnificence of the adventure left a never-to-be-forgotten impression upon you. You never tired of rail transportation and prefer it to this day. Therefore, the discontinuance of passenger trains disturbs you.

Trips Of Long Ago

As a result you write an editorial lamenting the poor job the railroads have done in meeting the competition of other forms of transportation. What gets you in trouble is a mistake in fact. In opposing the Western Pacific's application to discontinue its portion of the California Zephyr, it was stated that success of the application would end Lincoln connections with Colorado.

This fit into the fact that the Rock Island has discontinued its service on the Rocket from Omaha to Denver-Colorado Springs. The California Zephyr also goes to Colorado but there is a difference.

The Burlington Railroad is not discontinuing its part of the Zephyr which runs twice daily, one to Denver and on to San Francisco, Calif., and one to Denver and Colorado Springs and then on to California. This run would be affected beyond Salt Lake City, Utah, by elimination of the Western Pacific section of the train but the final end of all that is still much in doubt. In any event, the Burlington has no thoughts, it maintains, of ending its service to Colorado. Additionally, a Burlington spokesman has said that the road intends to completely update and refurbish all of its main line passenger cars within a year. Finally, the Burlington also runs a so-called local train daily on which Lincoln passengers can ride to Denver and points in between.

Thus, our statement that the Rock Island and Western Pacific actions would leave us without rail contacts with Colorado was in error. We are sorry to have made the misstatement but are pleased with the facts as they are. The Burlington spokesman reported that the railroad will continue to run passenger service so long as such service makes money. Not just to be critical of the railroads, but it would be interesting to see the results if the Burlington and other roads made an all-out effort to attract passenger service. With its car rebuilding program, the Burlington is making progress but much more could well be done. If the service and facilities on the rails were top-flight and the public was made fully aware of this form of transportation, one wonders if it would not again flourish.

A second editorial the same day was compared with the railroad piece by two callers. Just as the railroads may lack something by way of initiative and imagination, said the callers, so does downtown Lincoln. Thus, they reasoned, should downtown be protected by limited business zoning, as the second editorial of that day suggested?

The question is a good one, of course, and one no one can answer for a fact. Downtown, it is argued, shows signs of decay and deterioration has been the pattern in cities across the land. It was after that development that the suburban shopping centers came into the picture in force.

The key element in such thought is that the downtown areas of the nation should get their houses in order and would not have to worry about suburban shopping areas. Like the railroads, it is said, the downtown area has not catered to the customer with plenty of free parking, an attractive environment and perhaps other aspects of retailing. On the other hand, suburban shopping centers have gone after customers with a vengeance. Thus, the problem is one of downtown responsibility and initiative, not protective zoning laws that only encourage further apathy.

Wooing The Customer

That is the other side of the coin. This much can be said — not even protective zoning will ultimately save the downtown if the merchants and property owners there fail to meet the demands of the times, the challenges of the changes that have come about in recent years. Obviously, you need both proper zoning and proper utilization of land on the part of the private property owner.

"It Says Here Congress Is Anxious To Get Out Of Town"

Back End Load

A few years ago the public became familiar with the term "front end load." It was meant to describe the practice of taking fees in advance out of investments made in mutual funds. Now it may be proper to acquaint the public with the "back end load."

This could describe a situation here in Lincoln involving a patient and her doctor. The patient received a bill of $10.50 for two office calls which included a minor bit of surgery. The bill was then paid and the patient applied to her insurance carrier for reimbursement.

The carrier asked for a statement from the doctor and the completion of a routine form from the doctor. This was passed on to the doctor by the patient who received, by return mail, a new statement and the completed insurance form.

The new statement, however, was for $25. The services for which an actual charge of $10.50 had been made were billed now at $20 and another $5 was added on for completion of the insurance form, the latter which might have taken up to a whole minute or two to do.

Was it all a mistake or did the doctor simply change the bill after discovering the patient had insurance? The insurance payment would go to the patient, not the doctor, so any deliberate action by the doctor could only have been to defraud the insurance company. Certainly, the $5 charge for completing the insurance form was ridiculous and no mistake.

The carrier told of another recent case in which a woman whose family had gone to the same doctor for 40 years was charged $2 for a certificate of death upon the demise of her husband. Such experiences are not the kind that build trust and confidence or contribute to the solution of problems that face us.

Social Security Hike Proposal

Many an aging heart beat a little faster when President L. B. Johnson publicly threw his weight behind an increase in Social Security payments.

This was true because Social Security provides the bulk of income for ever so many, who are now too old to remain in the workaday world. And when it is considered that the average of social Security payments is only $80 per month it is easy to see that as important as it is, it still lacks a good deal of being enough.

There has been great broadening of Social Security since its beginning, but the individual payments have not followed the cost of living rise. If it is true that Social Security funds and income alone are sufficient to provide a payment increase, it should be done.

And equally important, it is necessary to raise the outside earning limits. Present limits are unreasonably low. Raising them would be as beneficial as added monthly payments.

But presidential support does not always precede the fact. The Congress may not see eye to eye with the President and it should in no way be assumed that this recent endorsement will bring any sudden change. Prudence dictates a wait and see attitude. The proposal still has a long hard way to go and can be subject to any number of modifications even if it becomes the law.

The best that can be said of it now is that it holds promise of better days for any number and it is something that should have been done some time ago.

Two Views Of Taxes

The New Yorker is running a three week serial article on the Los Angeles, California, area. It is a revealing story to Nebraska and other areas which last year reached hopefully for the great federal cyclotron which is not yet built and which we are not going to get.

Los Angeles used to be known as the movie capital, housing a multimillion dollar film industry and any number of overwealthy movie stars of relatively small intellect. Today the famed Sunset Strip is a decaying area. Most of the stars are broke or gone. But Los Angeles survived and today is perhaps the capital of the aerospace world, getting the lion's share of the country's 60 or 70 billion a year spent on war and defense. Most of the nation's aerospace scientists now live in the Los Angeles-San Diego area, forming an elite lodge, well pleased with their pay checks, the salubrious ocean air and gentle climate.

While we thought on a lower level, the Angelinos thought on a higher level and they badly outmaneuvered us. They went out and got the specialized brains and built the sophisticated factories, built the schools to train the new brains and are well on their way, almost beyond the point of competition.

We speak of becoming industrialized. Well, 11,000 industries, mostly doing business in Southern California, provided the insides of most of our far flying rockets and space ships. Southern California has recruited the brains, the high level workmen, built the schools and supported it as an airtight complex supported by billions in public money.

Obviously we hard pressed Middle Western states have been using the wrong end of the spy glass in looking at taxes and progress. Taxes can be a great asset to an area that can supply a great public need, just as they can be a burden to an area that pays them but refuses to provide the services that get back 10 for 1.

No Cooperation To Fight Smog

WASHINGTON—When you read Ben Bagdikian's expose in the Saturday Evening Post on the "national scandal of air pollution." — and every city dweller should read it — bear in mind also the Justice Department's own scandal re: air pollution.

A federal grand jury in Los Angeles is now sitting in its fifth week of hearing how the big four of the auto industry procrastinated and ganged up together in discouraging anti-smog devices for auto mufflers. It will be a shocking story.

But almost equally shocking is the way the Justice Department delayed doing anything about it.

Over a year ago, in January, 1965, antitrust attorneys began digging into the auto industry's role in combating smog. They found that the industry had placed styling ahead of safety both on the highway and in regard to exhaust fumes; and that 13 years ago they had agreed to pool research efforts to combat pollution, but did nothing thereafter.

Meanwhile four enterprising smaller companies had produced anti-smog devices, approved by the California Air Pollution Board, June, 1964, but couldn't get the big four of the auto industry to use them. The four enterprising companies are: Norris-Thermidor working with W. R. Grace; American Machine and Foundry; Arvin Industries working with Universal Oil Products; and American Cyanamid working with Walker Manufacturing Company.

Only after months of Justice Department delay and after this column, on May 22, 1966, exposed the delay, was a federal grand jury called in Los Angeles.

Note — The Saturday Evening Post expose shows in detail how the nation's health is being undermined by poisonous fumes and dirt pouring out of chimneys and automobiles.

☆ ☆ ☆

Vice President Humphrey sitting just above the Orioles' dugout, was more discreet.

"If I had rooted for the Dodgers, sitting where I was," HHH told Roosevelt, "they'd have mobbed me. After all, I'm the vice president of both leagues. I'm like the Kentucky politician who was asked about the hottest issue in his county, the bounty on squirrels.

"'About half of my friends are for the bounty and about half are agin' it,' he said. "I'm for my friends.'"

Next Weekend To See Congress End

WASHINGTON — A Congress which has been huddling together for warmth during the icy Viet Nam blasts has finally decided it must go out in the cold where the voters are before election day.

Adjournment has been promised by the leadership for not later than next weekend. It could hardly be later as a matter of courage and courtesy, as it is simply impossible to pretend that the exigencies of the war have kept Congress here.

The President is running the war with the Secretary of State and the Secretary of Defense. He is using the Tonkin Bay resolution obtained from the Senate at a moment of crisis in the fall of 1964 as a blank check for all the escalation since and for such negotiations as he sees fit to initiate.

Congress will arrive in the grass roots scarcely three weeks before the polls open, a period when only acts of God and campaign blunders of staggering proportions can be expected to change the decisions the voters have already reached. Incumbents are resigned to the situation, even those who retain a sense of embarrassment over their futility during the past nine months.

That the President is counting upon equal docility from the survivors of next Nov. 8 seems apparent from his calm announcement that he will ask the next Congress for a 10 per cent boost in social security next year. It did occur to one member of the tax-raising committee to wonder if he would also pass on to the next Congress the inevitable request for another huge appropriation to settle this year's Viet Nam bills.

Normally such supplemental money bills are handed to Congress before it adjourns but not this election year. Any significant tax increase has also been postponed and repeal of a relatively minor investment credit was substituted.

It has been gravely considered and is being approved even though it is about one-fourth economics, one-fourth psychology and the rest kickapoo juice for election purposes. So are some other measures which will be heralded as achievements of the session soon to be concluded.

About a year ago Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield parted from his charges with admonitions that the social legislation they had caught up with needed tightening, plus a stern look at how it was being administered, and probably amendments. This has not happened. A Mansfield warning against new programs was disregarded at the White House but not altogether by Congress.

Great Society appropriations have been limited by war needs, however, so that supporters could not fight for them.

The opposition did not need to fight very hard against them. Whether the domestic momentum gained in 1965 can be recaptured looks impossible or at the very least as far away as a satisfactory resolution of the war itself.

Night Battle With A Cricket

By MONA B. PARKER

When a local angler, one Hoppy Hopken, had a big bass he had caught and was showing it around town, Jerry Pickerell of the Bruning Banner didn't happen to have any film on hand. It recalled another time when the same fisherman was telling about "the big one" and the editor asked for a picture. That time the fish had already been consumed. However, the enterprising sportsman had nailed the fish's head and tail to the barn door and invited the newsman to photograph it, "leaving the middle of the fish to imagination."

With wheat ground prepared for another season, Gladys Lindstrom surmises that Gresham farmers and others are hoping for another bumper crop next year.

"One farmer remarked that he was usually satisfied if just one of his crops would do exceptionally well—but he sure wasn't agin' all of them producing record yields. Those times are few and far between."

☆ ☆ ☆

The Syracuse Journal-Democrat has one last golfing story of the season to offer. The foursome who were involved are still shaking their heads, unbelieving, the J-D says . . .

It was a "blood and bucks" golfing match and the foursome were teeing off on No. 7 of the Nebraska City course. One player sliced his ball . . .

"The ball bounded into a ditch, then onto the concrete highway where it bounced high into the fender of an oncoming truck. As if cooperating, the truck bounced the ball twice, then caromed it off the fender back into the fairway. Vic saved two penalty strokes, lost only about 60 yards of the drive. The trucker hasn't been heard from yet."

Dorothy Payne is somewhat inclined toward retribution, man-made or otherwise. She notes that the Hooper Sentinel and other papers are working up to the season when they will be doing a land-office business selling "No Treaspassing" signs.

"I think our farmers should take down the license numbers of the city slickers who overrun their property, look up the owners' names and addresses, and pay them a return visit."

"But the one in progress is the same old stuff."

Why crickets chirp loudest in the night has never been quite established, entomologically speaking. But they do. Or perhaps it is the illusion that enhancement by comparative quiet brings. Anyway . . .

Mrs. Roy Ahrndt of the Scribner Rustler arose in the wee small hours to do battle with one. It seemed to be behind the refrigerator, so in the dark she grabbed the aerosol spray, reached around the furniture and sprayed away.

But the chirper still chirped.

She sprayed some more.

She put on the light, then, but it was a bit tardy. She had been using liquid spray starch. An hour later, she groaned, she had the floor scrubbed and the area behind the refrigerator cleaned out and she went back to bed.

"What a revolting mess!"

Most people these days are inclined to cuss and discuss the postal service, Jack Tarr writes in David City Banner-Press columns. Especially if their own mail is a little late, or misdirected. There is another side to the postcard, he wants readers to know.

He saw a postcard, for instance, mailed from Chadron and delivered in Butler County in spite of the fact that it carried no address of any kind.

The only hint for the put-upon postman as to its destination was the greeting: "Dear Aunt Rose."

Guidance Course

Lincoln, Neb.

Once again a parent has voiced his objection (Oct. 11 Star) to the Lincoln Public School Guidance Program. It seldom fails in any sort of gathering, when the school system is brought up, that nearly everyone there voices his annoyance and disgust with guidance.

We have had four children go through Millard Lefler and Southeast High and have not had one guidance teacher or class that was not a waste of time. Parents take care of the moral training at home. It is no business of a teacher to teach moral behavior. Each parent has his own ideas and methods. As far as vocational guidance—after three attempts to find out the requirements for premed and pre-dent, we finally gave up and called the university.

The guidance teachers aren't qualifed for guiding, and the course is a required waste of time.

Sharing Good Things

Lincoln, Neb.

Each year many visitors from other countries come to Lincoln because of the Unicameral Legislature, the University of Nebraska, the Tractor Testing Station, the Capitol building, etc. — and to acquaint themselves with life in the Midwest.

From April to September of this year, the newly appointed Mayor's Committee for International Friendship has provided community hosts for 104 foreign visitors to Lincoln. This hospitality has included tours of Lincoln, meals in American homes, participation in meetings of local organizations, attendance at special events, and on occasion, overnight accomodation.

Many Lincolnites may not be aware that they, too, can share in this venture in international friendship. Anyone interested in the program may send a postcard to the Mayor's office at City Hall with his name and address indicating his interest. Just a four-cent postcard can be the beginning of a most rewarding experience of sharing the good things of Lincoln with visitors from other lands.

Curtis Record

Lincoln, Neb.

I have been wondering why Senator Curtis refused to debate state and national issues with Governor Morrison. Mr. Curtis says he is winning on his past record. If his voting record is for the good of Nebraska, he should have no fear, but after looking at his voting record, I understand why he will not debate Mr. Morrison.

Mr. Curtis says he is for the farmer but has voted against every farm feed grain and wheat legislation bill in the last six years or more that would raise the income of the farmers. He joined with the baking industry and the Farm Bureau against the wheat bill last year that would have given the farmer parity for a bushel of wheat and added ¾ cent on a loaf of bread. They called this a bread tax and succeeded in killing the bill. Inside of six months, bread went up three to five cents a loaf and the farmer still didn't receive parity. But I heard not one word against the raise from Mr. Curtis or the other critics.

Mr. Curtis says he is for Social Security and the REA, but has voted against them. I was sure no one would be against the "Truth in Packaging Bill" except the processors and retailers. But, again, Senator Curtis voted against it. Still the bill passed the Senate with 72 for and 9 against.

Mr. Curtis really let Nebraska down when he voted for the Tidelands Oil bill and lost our state millions of dollars ... x money. He then tried to hide behind the statement that President Johnson voted for the bill. I admire Mr. Johnson for voting for it, as he was a senator representing Texas at that time, and Texas was to benefit from this bill along with other states along the coast.

I think Mr. Curtis should go down to Texas and run for senator and represent the oil men, and that we should elect Frank Morrison as our next senator to represent Nebraska.

Riding The Rails

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

If you don't get into trouble now and then with what you write, you must not be writing anything of interest. So the saying goes, and on that basis we write a lot of things of interest. Take yesterday, for instance. It was a beautiful day, the kind during which you sit in the office and look out the window, thinking how nice it would be to goof off if so many things were not pressing you.

Thus, you have a frame of mind both good and bad. As you turn to the business at hand, you think about the decline of passenger service on the railroads. This pricks the bad side of your frame of mind, not because you don't like the railroads but because they are favorites of yours. The first trips you ever took were by rail and the magnificence of the adventure left a never-to-be-forgotten impression upon you. You never tired of rail transportation and prefer it to this day. Therefore, the discontinuance of passenger trains disturbs you.

Trips Of Long Ago

As a result you write an editorial lamenting the poor job the railroads have done in meeting the competition of other forms of transportation. What gets you in trouble is a mistake in fact. In opposing the Western Pacific's application to discontinue its portion of the California Zephyr, it was stated that success of the application would end Lincoln connections with Colorado.

This fit into the fact that the Rock Island has discontinued its service on the Rocket from Omaha to Denver-Colorado Springs. The California Zephyr also goes to Colorado but there is a difference.

A federal grand jury in Los Angeles is now sitting in its fifth week of hearing how the big four of the auto industry procrastinated and ganged up together in discouraging anti-smog devices for auto mufflers. It will be a shocking story.

But almost equally shocking is the way the Justice Department delayed doing anything about it.

Over a year ago, in January, 1965, antitrust attorneys began digging into the auto industry's role in combating smog. They found that the industry had placed styling ahead of safety both on the highway and in regard to exhaust fumes; and that 13 years ago they had agreed to pool research efforts to combat pollution, but did nothing thereafter.

Meanwhile four enterprising smaller companies had produced anti-smog devices, approved by the California Air Pollution Board, June, 1964, but couldn't get the big four of the auto industry to use them. The four enterprising companies are: Norris-Thermidor working with W. R. Grace; American Machine and Foundry; Arvin Industries working with Universal Oil Products; and American Cyanamid working with Walker Manufacturing Company.

Only after months of Justice Department delay and after this column, on May 22, 1966, exposed the delay, was a federal grand jury called in Los Angeles.

Note — The Saturday Evening Post expose shows in detail how the nation's health is being undermined by poisonous fumes and dirt pouring out of chimneys and automobiles.

"If I had rooted for the Dodgers, sitting where I was," HHH told Roosevelt, "they'd have mobbed me. After all, I'm the vice president of both leagues. I'm like the Kentucky politician who was asked about the hottest issue in his county, the bounty on squirrels.

"'About half of my friends are for the bounty and about half are agin' it,' he said. "I'm for my friends.'"

Next Weekend To See Congress End

WASHINGTON — A Congress which has been huddling together for warmth during the icy Viet Nam blasts has finally decided it must go out in the cold where the voters are before election day.

Adjournment has been promised by the leadership for not later than next weekend. It could hardly be later as a matter of courage and courtesy, as it is simply impossible to pretend that the exigencies of the war have kept Congress here.

The President is running the war with the Secretary of State and the Secretary of Defense. He is using the Tonkin Bay resolution obtained from the Senate at a moment of crisis in the fall of 1964 as a blank check for all the escalation since and for such negotiations as he sees fit to initiate.

Congress will arrive in the grass roots scarcely three weeks before the polls open, a period when only acts of God and campaign blunders of staggering proportions can be expected to change the decisions the voters have already reached. Incumbents are resigned to the situation, even those who retain a sense of embarrassment over their futility during the past nine months.

That the President is counting upon equal docility from the survivors of next Nov. 8 seems apparent from his calm announcement that he will ask the next Congress for a 10 per cent boost in social security next year. It did occur to one member of the tax-raising committee to wonder if he would also pass on to the next Congress the inevitable request for another huge appropriation to settle this year's Viet Nam bills.

Normally such supplemental money bills are handed to Congress before it adjourns but not this election year. Any significant tax increase has also been postponed and repeal of a relatively minor investment credit was substituted.

It has been gravely considered and is being approved even though it is about one-fourth economics, one-fourth psychology and the rest kickapoo juice for election purposes. So are some other measures which will be heralded as achievements of the session soon to be concluded.

About a year ago Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield parted from his charges with admonitions that the social legislation they had caught up with needed tightening, plus a stern look at how it was being administered, and probably amendments. This has not happened. A Mansfield warning against new programs was disregarded at the White House but not altogether by Congress.

Great Society appropriations have been limited by war needs, however, so that supporters could not fight for them.

The opposition did not need to fight very hard against them. Whether the domestic momentum gained in 1965 can be recaptured looks impossible or at the very least as far away as a satisfactory resolution of the war itself.

Night Battle With A Cricket

By MONA B. PARKER

With wheat ground prepared for another season, Gladys Lindstrom surmises that Gresham farmers and others are hoping for another bumper crop next year.

"One farmer remarked that he was usually satisfied if just one of his crops would do exceptionally well—but he sure wasn't agin' all of them producing record yields. Those times are few and far between."

☆ ☆ ☆

The Syracuse Journal-Democrat has one last golfing story of the season to offer. The foursome who were involved are still shaking their heads, unbelieving, the J-D says . . .

It was a "blood and bucks" golfing match and the foursome were teeing off on No. 7 of the Nebraska City course. One player sliced his ball . . .

"The ball bounded into a ditch, then onto the concrete highway where it bounced high into the fender of an oncoming truck. As if cooperating, the truck bounced the ball twice, then caromed it off the fender back into the fairway. Vic saved two penalty strokes, lost only about 60 yards of the drive. The trucker hasn't been heard from yet."

Dorothy Payne is somewhat inclined toward retribution, man-made or otherwise. She notes that the Hooper Sentinel and other papers are working up to the season when they will be doing a land-office business selling "No Treaspassing" signs.

"I think our farmers should take down the license numbers of the city slickers who overrun their property, look up the owners' names and addresses, and pay them a return visit."

"But the one in progress is the same old stuff."

Why crickets chirp loudest in the night has never been quite established, entomologically speaking. But they do. Or perhaps it is the illusion that enhancement by comparative quiet brings. Anyway . . .

Mrs. Roy Ahrndt of the Scribner Rustler arose in the wee small hours to do battle with one. It seemed to be behind the refrigerator, so in the dark she grabbed the aerosol spray, reached around the furniture and sprayed away.

But the chirper still chirped.

She sprayed some more.

She put on the light, then, but it was a bit tardy. She had been using liquid spray starch. An hour later, she groaned, she had the floor scrubbed and the area behind the refrigerator cleaned out and she went back to bed.

"What a revolting mess!"

Most people these days are inclined to cuss and discuss the postal service, Jack Tarr writes in David City Banner-Press columns. Especially if their own mail is a little late, or misdirected. There is another side to the postcard, he wants readers to know.

He saw a postcard, for instance, mailed from Chadron and delivered in Butler County in spite of the fact that it carried no address of any kind.

The only hint for the put upon postman as to its destination was the greeting "Dear Aunt Rose."

Guidance Course

Lincoln, Neb.

Once again a parent has voiced his objection (Oct. 11 Star) to the Lincoln Public School Guidance Program. It seldom fails in any sort of gathering, when the school system is brought up, that nearly everyone there voices his annoyance and disgust with guidance.

We have had four children go through Millard Lefler and Southeast High and have not had one guidance teacher or class that was not a waste of time. Parents take care of the moral training at home. It is no business of a teacher to teach moral behavior. Each parent has his own ideas and methods. As far as vocational guidance—after three attempts to find out the requirements for premed and pre-dent, we finally gave up and called the university.

The guidance teachers aren't qualified for guiding, and the course is a required waste of time.

Sharing Good Things

Lincoln, Neb.

Each year many visitors from other countries come to Lincoln because of the Unicameral Legislature, the University of Nebraska, the Tractor Testing Station, the Capitol building, etc. — and to acquaint themselves with life in the Midwest.

From April to September of this year, the newly appointed Mayor's Committee for International Friendship has provided community hosts for 104 foreign visitors to Lincoln. This hospitality has included tours of Lincoln, meals in American homes, participation in meetings of local organizations, attendance at special events, and on occasion, overnight accomodation.

Many Lincolnites may not be aware that they, too, can share in this venture in international friendship. Anyone interested in the program may send a postcard to the Mayor's office at City Hall with his name and address indicating his interest. Just a four-cent postcard can be the beginning of a most rewarding experience of sharing the good things of Lincoln with visitors from other lands.

Curtis Record

Lincoln, Neb.

I have been wondering why Senator Curtis refused to debate state and national issues with Governor Morrison. Mr. Curtis says he is winning on his past record. If his voting record is for the good of Nebraska, he should have no fear, but after looking at his voting record, I understand why he will not debate Mr. Morrison.

Mr. Curtis says he is for the farmer but has voted against every farm feed grain and wheat legislation bill in the last six years or more that would raise the income of the farmers. He joined with the baking industry and the Farm Bureau against the wheat bill last year that would have given the farmer parity for a bushel of wheat and added ¾ cent on a loaf of bread. They called this a bread tax and succeeded in killing the bill. Inside of six months, bread went up three to five cents a loaf and the farmer still didn't receive parity. But I heard not one word against the raise from Mr. Curtis or the other critics.

Mr. Curtis says he is for Social Security and the REA but has voted against them. I was sure no one would be against the "Truth in Packaging Bill" except the processors and retailers. But, again, Senator Curtis voted against it. Still the bill passed the Senate with 72 for and 9 against.

Mr. Curtis really let Nebraska down when he voted for the Tidelands Oil bill and lost our state millions of dollars .. money. He then tried to hide behind the statement that President Johnson voted for the bill. I admire Mr. Johnson for voting for it, as he was a senator representing Texas at that time, and Texas was to benefit from this bill along with other states along the coast.

I think Mr. Curtis should go down to Texas and run for senator and represent the oil men, and that we should elect Frank Morrison as our next senator to represent Nebraska.

More Liberal Investment Practices Proposed

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

Nebraska voters will be asked next month to consider two proposals which would broaden and liberalize investment policies and practices of state government and its political subdivisions.

The two proposals are contained in Amendment 12, submitted to a vote of the people by 42-0 approval of the Legislature.

The first proposition provides that educational funds of the state be invested as the Legislature may provide.

Investment of educational funds is now limited to U.S. or state securities, registered county bonds or school district bonds of the state, and "such other securities as the Legislature may from time to time direct."

However, the attorney general has held that the latter phrase does not permit investment in corporate stock because of a constitutional prohibition against the giving or loaning of the credit of the state in the aid of any individual, association or corporation.

Could Gain

Sen. Ramey Whitney of Chappell, chief sponsor of the bill proposing the amendment, argues that the state could gain two to three percent a year additional return on its investments by allowing funds to be invested in corporate stock.

Whitney tied his proposal directly to the bill ordering sale of the state's 1.6 million acres of school land. The school land sale measure cleared the 1965 Legislature and is now law.

Broadened investment authority, granted by passage of Amendment 12, would permit the Legislature to authorize investment of the funds from sale of the school lands — as well as money in the several permanent educational endowment and trust funds — in diversified securities which would earn more money for the state and its schools, Whitney contends.

Over a 12-year period, he told the Legislature, Nebraska would have earned $81 million more had school lands been sold and their proceeds invested in corporate stock. The figure would have been $40 million in additional income if the funds had been invested equally in corporate stock and government bonds, Whitney said.

Opponents of the proposal generally fought sale of the school lands, arguing that land is the safest and soundest investment for valuable school funds.

Having lost the school land battle, some opponents continue to warn against investment of funds in a risky, fluctuating market — and the recent, long-term market slump has only tended to heighten their fears.

The second proposal submitted in Amendment 12 would authorize the Legislature to provide for the investment of funds of the state and of cities, villages, school districts, public power districts and other governmental or political subdivisions by statute.

In effect, it would broaden investment policies for all state governmental funds, including retirement or pension funds, in the manner in which the first proposal would liberalize procedures for investment of educational funds

Under the second proposal, governmental subdivisions of the state could invest retirement or pension funds as they wished subject to limitations prescribed by the Legislature.

Tax Relief For Teachers Lauded

Shelby (R)—Republican congressional candidate Robert V. Denney has applauded the recent decision of the Treasury Department concerning tax deductions for teachers who take additional courses for self improvement.

"This is exactly the action I proposed while in Washington this summer and I am elated that it has been put into effect," he declared in remarks prepared for a Polk County Republican dinner.

Fino Flails At Cities Bill As Black Power Tool

Democrats retorted that Fino's charge was only a way of getting white backlash votes to kill the measure.

Fino said the bill, which would authorize the government to spend $1.2 billion over the next two years to rehabilitate city slums, "is a tool of black power. It will demonstrate how to burn shops and throw rocks at police cars."

His charge was based on a newspaper article quoting a San Francisco official as saying "members of the black power structure" in the city's Negro slums are dickering over who would control the demonstration cities bill there.

"Vote against this bill if you want to stand up to black power," Fino shouted on the House floor.

But Democrats said Fino's charges were false and that he was only raising the racial issue in an attempt to confuse members and defeat the bill.

Senate OKs Goodies For Aged, Poor, Sick

Washington (UPI) — The Senate passed a catch-all bill Thursday containing election-year goodies for "the aged, the poor and the sick," as well as doctors, lawyers and political parties.

Almost obscured by a batch of amendments was the original objective of the bill—to attract more foreign investments in the United States.

The Senate approved the grab-bag bill, 58 to 18, and sent it to a House-Senate conference committee where it is expected to be shorn of many of the amendments attached by the Senate Finance Committee.

With both houses aiming for adjournment by the end of next week, it was not believed that the Senate would insist on keeping many controversial amendments in a compromise bill.

Aid To Enemy

Also believed headed for the shelf in the waning days of the session was a bill passed Thursday by the House to forbid Americans from aiding the Viet Cong or any future enemy. The measure was approved, 275 to 64, but probably will die in the Senate.

In other congressional activity:

—Senate-House negotiators compromised on a $3.7 billion all-out attack to rid the nation's waters of pollution. The compromise legislation includes a four-year, $3.1 billion program of sewage treatment plant construction and a three-year, $703 million program of research.

—The House Un-American Activities Committee approved a bill to outlaw acts of violence or intimidation by such "clandestine organizations" as the Ku Klux Klan. The vote was 7 to 2. Chances of the House acting this late in the session were considered nil.

Ceiling Up

—The Senate passed and sent to the White House a bill to raise from the present $10,000 to $15,000 the ceiling on federal insurance on deposits in banks and savings and loan institutions.

—The House completed congressional action on legislation to provide air transportation for most mail to American troops in Viet Nam and at other overseas bases.

—The Senate Appropriations Committee approved a $2.3 billion appropriations bill for the State, Justice and Commerce Departments.

Court Asked To Alter Dismissal Of Dope Counts

Deuel County Atty. R. E. Richards asked the State Supreme Court Thursday to reverse the dismissal of charges of possession of narcotics against three Californians.

Richards contended in a written brief that there was competent evidence to support the allegation that Dwight Faircloth, James Oram and Larry Martin had possession of Marijuana.

The trio was arrested near Chappell on Jan. 7 of this year after the car in which they were traveling from California to Lincoln was stopped by a State Safety Patrolman.

Richards said marijuana was found in a duffle bag in the front seat of the car, and he said District Judge John H. Kuns erred when he dismissed the charges before a jury could render a verdict.

Hard Battle Brings Poverty Agreement

Washington (AP) — Senate-House conferees, after a week of hard battling, reached agreement late Thursday on a compromise $1.75 billion bill to finance the antipoverty program for a third year.

The final form of the bill would allocate all of the money to specific war on poverty programs in a far more rigid manner than President Johnson proposed.

This was a victory for the House delegation led by Rep. Adam Clayton Powell, D-N.Y.

But, Powell told reporters he felt the bill might be "in serious trouble in the House" when it is brought up next week. The Senate is expected to act first, probably Monday.

3 Won't Sign

Rep. William H. Ayres, R-Ohio, said none of the three House Republican conferees signed the report because it would drop a House provision to limit to 29 the number of supergrade positions in the Office of Economic Opportunity, the antipoverty agency.

This would allow present law authorizing 53 such positions to prevail.

Powell said this is the principal reason he expected it to be difficult to get the compromise bill through the House.

Not All Filled

Not all of these jobs, paying from $20,075 to $25,800, have been filled.

Sen. Joseph S. Clark, D-Pa., head of the Senate delegation, said the final product "is the best we could work out and should be acceptable to the administration. At least it will keep the program going in the years ahead."

Israeli Aggression Behind Meeting, Arabs Say

United Nations, N.Y. (AP) — The 12-nation Arab group charged Thursday that Israel was seeking an urgent meeting of the U.N. Security Council in order to create suitable conditions for massive aggression against Syria.

They made the charge in advance of a meeting of the council Friday, requested by Israel, which had accused Syria of trying to stir up a new war between Israel and the Arab nations.

Burhan Hammad, secretary of the Arab group and member of the Jordan delegation, said that the group decided at a meeting to throw its unanimous support to Syria. The members are Algeria, Iraq, Jordan, Kuwait, Lebanon, Libya, Morocco, Saudi Arabia, Sudan, Syria, Egypt and Yemen. Hammad said:

"In dismissing the Israeli complaint as artificial and faked, the Arab group observed that Israel seeks to achieve two goals: the creation of suitable conditions for the perpetration of massive aggression against Syria and other Arab states, and the establishment of a calculated atmosphere at the United Nations during its discussion of the Palestine question in the special political committee next week."

The Israeli complaint was based on incidents along the Syrian-Israeli border. Israel blamed El Fatah a sabotage group, of Palestine Arab refugees allegedly based in Syria.

Russia Warns Israel Against Retaliation

Jerusalem, Israel (UPI) — The Soviet Union has warned Israel it takes a grave view of possible Israeli retaliation to Syrian border attacks, informed sources said Thursday. The Russians also charged Israel was closely connected with "imperialist designs" on Syria.

The sources said the Soviet position was conveyed verbally by Ambassador Dmitri Chuvakhin to Premier Levi Eshkol Wednesday. They said it brought the Soviet Union openly into the sharpening Middle East crisis for the first time.

The sources said Eshkol asked if Moscow was using its influence with the Damascus regime to counsel moderation. But they said the Soviet ambassador did not reply.

Optometrists Included?

Ottawa, (AP) — Prime Minister Lester B. Pearson told Parliament inclusion of optometrists' services in Canada's medical care plan is under consideration. His questioner, former Prime Minister John Diefenbaker, said optometrists make 60% of all eye examinations in Canada.

Fino Flails At Cities Bill As Black Power Tool

Democrats retorted that Fino's charge was only a way of getting white backlash votes to kill the measure.

Fino said the bill, which would authorize the government to spend $1.2 billion over the next two years to rehabilitate city slums, "is a tool of black power. It will demonstrate how to burn shops and throw rocks at police cars."

His charge was based on a newspaper article quoting a San Francisco official as saying "members of the black power structure" in the city's Negro slums are dickering over who would control the demonstration cities bill there.

"Vote against this bill if you want to stand up to black power," Fino shouted on the House floor.

But Democrats said Fino's charges were false and that he was only raising the racial issue in an attempt to confuse members and defeat the bill.

Senate OKs Goodies For Aged, Poor, Sick

Washington (UPI) — The Senate passed a catch-all bill Thursday containing election-year goodies for "the aged, the poor and the sick," as well as doctors, lawyers and political parties.

Almost obscured by a batch of amendments was the original objective of the bill—to attract more foreign investments in the United States.

The Senate approved the grab-bag bill, 58 to 18, and sent it to a House-Senate conference committee where it is expected to be shorn of many of the amendments attached by the Senate Finance Committee.

With both houses aiming for adjournment by the end of next week, it was not believed that the Senate would insist on keeping many controversial amendments in a compromise bill.

Aid To Enemy

Also believed headed for the shelf in the waning days of the session was a bill passed Thursday by the House to forbid Americans from aiding the Viet Cong or any future enemy. The measure was approved, 275 to 64, but probably will die in the Senate.

In other congressional activity:

—Senate-House negotiators compromised on a $3.7 billion all-out attack to rid the nation's waters of pollution. The compromise legislation includes a four-year, $3.4 billion program of sewage treatment plant construction and a three-year, $308 million program of research.

—The House Un-American Activities Committee approved a bill to outlaw acts of violence or intimidation by such "clandestine organizations" as the Ku Klux Klan. The vote was 7 to 2. Chances of the House acting this late in the session were considered nil.

Ceiling Up

—The Senate passed and sent to the White House a bill to raise from the present $10,000 to $15,000 the ceiling on federal insurance on deposits in banks and savings and loan institutions.

—The House completed congressional action on legislation to provide air transportation for most mail to American troops in Viet Nam and at other overseas bases.

—The Senate Appropriations Committee approved a $2.3 billion appropriations bill for the State, Justice and Commerce Departments.

Court Asked To Alter Dismissal Of Dope Counts

Deuel County Atty. R. E. Richards asked the State Supreme Court Thursday to reverse the dismissal of charges of possession of narcotics against three Californians.

Richards contended in a written brief that there was competent evidence to support the allegation that Dwight Faircloth, James Oram and Larry Martin had possession of Marijuana.

The trio was arrested near Chappell on Jan. 7 of this year after the car in which they were traveling from California to Lincoln was stopped by a State Safety Patrolman.

Richards said marijuana was found in a duffle bag in the front seat of the car, and he said District Judge John H. Kuns erred when he dismissed the charges before a jury could render a verdict.

Statue Theft Charged By Russians

. . . TWO AMERICAN YOUTHS BEING HELD

Moscow (AP) — Soviet authorities are holding two young Americans in solitary confinement on charges of stealing a statue of a bear from a Leningrad hotel, the U.S. Embassy said Thursday.

The embassy identified the youths as Buel Wortham Jr., 25, of North Little Rock, Ark., and Craddock M. Gilmour Jr., 24, of Montclair, N.J.

The antique statue of a bear "was allegedly discovered in their effects during customs examination," the embassy said.

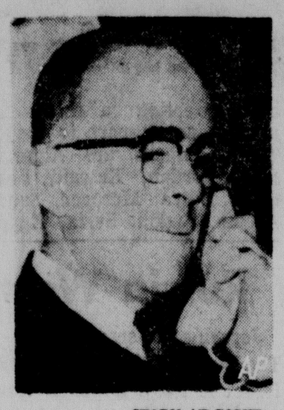

Information about the statue, including its value, was not available.

In North Little Rock, Ark., Mrs. Buel Wortham Sr., Wortham's mother, said: "I can't believe it boils down to anything more than a souvenir."

In Salt Lake City, Gilmour's father, Craddock M. Gilmour Sr., said the family was sure the State Department is doing everything possible for the two. He said his son entered the Soviet Union Sept. 24 on a tourist visa.

There was no immediate indication of how long the investigation would last or whether it would end with the Americans' being put on trial.

In Washington, State Department Press Officer Robert J. McCloskey said the Soviet foreign ministry had been asked for "a speedy resolution of the case, rather than permitting what appears to be a prank and not a serious crime to grow into an international incident."

Attempt To Block Merger Fails

Detroit (AP) — Directors of the collapsed Public Bank of Detroit failed Thursday in an effort to get the courts to reconsider putting it into receivership.

The directors, six of the bank's 13, also attacked the method of takeover as clandestine.

Acting on the testimony of state and federal bank examiners, Wayne County Circuit Court Judge Benjamin Burdick ordered the bank into receivership at a late night meeting Tuesday.

It was taken over at the meeting by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corp. (FDIC) and immediately sold to the Bank of the Commonwealth, another Detroit institution.

The six directors asked Burdick to block the merger of its assets with those of Commonwealth.

Burdick denied the petition, saying any alteration of the purchase agreement between FDIC and Commonwealth would give Commonwealth cause to rescind the deal, thereby endangering the deposits of the Public Bank, which Commonwealth had guaranteed.

Public's collapse, one of the largest bank failures since the Depression, was not thought to be the result of current tight money policies or talk of recession.

James H. McGuire, president of Public Bank, said Wednesday the bank's capital account—$1.3 million in the red — resulted from losses on installment loans.

Louis Berry, a director and a real estate man, Thursday defended the bank's loan policy as normal banking practice. He said the bank's capital position had improved since McGuire took over as president last March.

The demise of the faltering institution came as a surprise to McGuire and the bank's 71,000 depositors and 3,000 stockholders.

Blueboy, a new soft winter wheat just released by the North Carolina State Experiment Station, has averaged 54.9 bushels an acre in two-year tests — 35% more than the next best variety.

Accident Rate 'OK' For Flying Teams

Washington (AP) — The Pentagon said Thursday the number of fatal accidents involving Navy and Air Force precision flying teams is "acceptable" despite a growing need for pilots and aircraft in Viet Nam.

This response was given after two members of the Air Force Thunderbirds team were killed while practicing Wednesday over Nevada.

Last month one of the Navy's Blue Angels pilots died in a spectacular crash at the Canadian National Exhibition in Toronto.

Asked how such pilot and plane losses can be justified in time of war, a Defense Department spokesman said the purpose of the exhibition teams is not merely to entertain at air shows "in the theatrical sense."

The aerial demonstrations serve a useful role in recruiting new pilots and military personnel — "a function that increases in importance in times of armed conflict," the spokesmen said.

The spokesman added that "although there is a degree of danger inherent in any flying, the ability and continuous training of the demonstration pilots has resulted in an accident rate that is acceptable in relation to the achieved objectives."

Supreme Court Considers Disputed Hoffa Conviction

Washington (UPI—A lawyer for Teamster President James R. Hoffa, convicted in 1964 of jury tampering, told the Supreme Court Thursday the verdict should be reversed because the government violated "due process" in prosecuting the union leader.

Washington attorney Joseph A. Fanelli also argued that a government "secret agent" pursued Hoffa and illegally entered his hotel suite which was serving as defense headquarters in a 1962 trial of Hoffa on another charge.

The government representatives told the court that to reverse the Hoffa conviction on the grounds cited by Fanelli would "seriously hamper the government's use of informers" in the future, including cases of espionage.

Justices Abe Fortas and Byron R. White left the bench when the case was called. They gave no reason for disqualifying themselves, but observers noted that White was a high Justice Department official when Hoffa was being prosecuted.

Fred R. Cox Dies; Retired PR Director

Mr. Cox, of 3405 M, resided in Lincoln for 60 years. He was a member of Vine Congregational Church and a life member of the Lincoln Chamber of Commerce.

Funeral services will be held at 10:30 a.m. Saturday at Hodgmen-Splain's Chapel, with burial in Wyuka Cemetery.

His wife, Kate; a son, Francis L. of New York City; and a sister, Mrs. Margaret Melody of Santa Cruz, Calif., survive.

Clifton Webb, 'Mr. Belvedere,' Is Dead At 71

Hollywood (UPI) — Clifton Webb, the screen's most famous baby sitter, died Thursday night at the age of 71.

The veteran stage and screen star succumbed at his nearby Beverly Hills home. The cause of death was not immediately disclosed.

The actor underwent a two-hour operation in Houston, Tex., in January, 1963 to correct an abdominal aneurysm, which is a blister or unnatural enlargement at weak spot on a blood vessel.

Doctors grafted a length of dacron into a damaged artery.

Best known to movie goers as Mr. Belvedere, the dapper baby sitter who taught unruly children to chew their food 27 times, slim, moustachioed Webb also was an accomplished Broadway actor, dancer, singer and dresser.

Phouma Suggests Geneva-Type Talks

New York (UPI) — Laotian Premier Prince Souvanna Phouma Thursday offered his assistance to President Jonnson in peace overtures aimed at ending the Viet Nam war. He suggested a Geneva-type conference of parties to the Southeast Asian conflict.

Phouma met with Johnson at the chief executive's suite in the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel for nearly an hour. The neutralist Laotian premier later in the day flew to Boston for a visit with his son, a student at Harvard University.

Phouma, suave and greying, told Johnson the conflict on the IndoChinese Peninsula would not be settled by force of arms, but might profit from a new and broader international conference patterned after the Geneva talks in 1954.

When they finished, the two called an unscheduled news conference at which the Laotion Premier commended Johnson's knowledge of Laotian developments.

Johnson said it must be obvious to the aggressors in Viet Nam and Laos that they could never succeed. It must be equally obvious, he added, that the United States has no intention of either dominating the world or abandoning its commitments.

"As in the Dominican Republic," he said, "we will not let might make right."

"We hope the rest of the world will realize this. Those who desire peace in the world need not exercise their influence upon us toward unconditional discussions. If they can exert their efforts on Ho Chi Minh, maybe they can help the cause of peace."

Phouma heads a tri-partite coalition government split by open warfare between its allied right-wing and neutralist factions, and communist Pathet Lao forces working with the North Vietnamese.

Although never officially acknowledged, for months U.S. planes based in Thailand have been bombarding communist positions in Laos and near the South Vietnamese frontier in an attempt to stem the flow of men and supplies from North Viet Nam along the Ho Chi Minh trail which goes through Laos.

Agitation Prevented

Djibouti, French Somaliland (UPI)—Armed riot police raided the African section of this city and arrested about 20 persons in an attempt to forestall anticipated nationalist agitation.

Sorensen Says Nebraska's Gains Should Not Be Dumped

Hastings — Lt. Gov. Philip Sorensen said here Thursday abandonment of programs started in Nebraska under Gov. Frank Morrison would cost the state several million dollars.

Sorensen, a candidate for governor said one of these programs is the investment of idle state funds in interest-bearing securities.

"We now have something more than $40 million invested in interest-bearing U.S. securities," he said, "bringing the state something over a million dollars a year in interest.

"This isn't a time to throw out all the gains of the last eight years under Democratic administrations. This isn't the time to look backward. This is a time to look forward, to build upon the past to start a second century of progress for this state."

WARNER CLAIMS MORRISON NOT DECISIVE

State Sen. Jerome Warner of Waverly said Thursday that Gov. Frank Morrison's "erratic handling of Nebraska's tax problems shows he is not decisive enough to handle the complex job of United States senator."

In a statement, the Waverly farmer noted that Morrison in the past has taken a position against both sales and income taxes.

"Now, as a candidate for United States senator, he says he will vote against the income tax in the Nov. 8 referendum but will recommend an income tax along with the sales tax to the 1967 Legislature," Warner said.

Warner said Nebraskans should "look at these inconsistencies and ask themselves difficult decisions and provide consistent leadership in dealing with national problems."

Statue Theft Charged By Russians

. . . TWO AMERICAN YOUTHS BEING HELD

Moscow (AP) — Soviet authorities are holding two young Americans in solitary confinement on charges of stealing a statue of a bear from a Leningrad hotel, the U.S. Embassy said Thursday.

The embassy identified the youths as Buel Wortham Jr., 25, of North Little Rock, Ark., and Craddock M. Gilmour Jr., 24, of Montclair, N.J.

The antique statue of a bear "was allegedly discovered in their effects during customs examination," the embassy said.

Information about the statue, including its value, was not available.

In North Little Rock, Ark., Mrs. Buel Wortham Sr., Wortham's mother, said: "I can't believe it boils down to anything more than a souvenir."

In Salt Lake City, Gilmour's father, Craddock M. Gilmour Sr., said the family was sure the State Department is doing everything possible for the two. He said his son entered the Soviet Union Sept. 24 on a tourist visa.

There was no immediate indication of how long the investigation would last or whether it would end with the Americans' being put on trial.

In Washington, State Department Press Officer Robert J. McCloskey said the Soviet foreign ministry had been asked for "a speedy resolution of the case, rather than permitting what appears to be a prank and not a serious crime to grow into an international incident."

Attempt To Block Merger Fails

Detroit (AP) — Directors of the collapsed Public Bank of Detroit failed Thursday in an effort to get the courts to reconsider putting it into receivership.

The directors, six of the bank's 13, also attacked the method of takeover as clandestine.

Acting on the testimony of state and federal bank examiners, Wayne County Circuit Court Judge Benjamin Burdick ordered the bank into receivership at a late night meeting Tuesday.

It was taken over at the meeting by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corp. (FDIC) and immediately sold to the Bank of the Commonwealth, another Detroit institution.

The six directors asked Burdick to block the merger of its assets with those of Commonwealth.

Burdick denied the petition, saying any alteration of the purchase agreement between FDIC and Commonwealth would give Commonwealth cause to rescind the deal, thereby endangering the deposits of the Public Bank, which Commonwealth had guaranteed.

Public's collapse, one of the largest bank failures since the Depression, was not thought to be the result of current tight money policies or talk of recession.

James H. McGuire, president of Public Bank, said Wednesday the bank's capital account—$1.3 million in the red — resulted from losses on installment loans.

Louis Berry, a director and a real estate man, Thursday defended the bank's loan policy as normal banking practice. He said the bank's capital position had improved since McGuire took over as president last March.

The demise of the faltering institution came as a surprise to McGuire and the bank's 71,000 depositors and 3,000 stockholders.

The veteran stage and screen star succumbed at his nearby Beverly Hills home. The cause of death was not immediately disclosed.

Doctors grafted a length of dacron into a damaged artery.

Best known to movie goers as Mr. Belvedere, the dapper baby sitter who taught unruly children to chew their food 27 times, slim, moustachioed Webb also was an accomplished Broadway actor, dancer, singer and dresser.

'Final Terms' On Way To Rhodesia

Blackpool, England (AP) — Britain Thursday night sent off "final terms" for a compromise with rebellious Rhodesia, warning that some compulsory sanctions will be imposed through the United Nations if the new talks fail.

The opposition Conservative Party immediately pledged tooth-and nail resistance against any form of U.N. intervention.

Deputy leader Reginald Maudling told 4,000 Conservative delegates at the party's annual convention that "disaster for Britain, Rhodesia and all southern Africa" will follow if compulsory sanctions are imposed.

Maulding said Prime Minister Balthazar Vorster of South Africa told him recently that South Africa will continue regular trade with the Rhodesians even if the world body does order mandatory penalties against the breakaway regime of Prime Minister Ian Smith.

In London Prime Minister Harold Wilson presided over a cabinet meeting that approved his Labor government's minimum conditions for a settlement of the crisis that followed Smith's declaration of indeprendence last November.

The plan, seeking to bridge the gap between London and Salisbury, incorporated some new proposals, but no details were announced. A Commonwealth Office envoy, Sir Morrice James, took them by air to Salisbury for presentation to Smith through Gov. Sir Humphrey Gibbs.

10 Take Stand In Pork Trouble

Harlan, Iowa (UPI) — Ten persons appeared on the stand Thursday in the trial of 61 persons charged with unlawful assembly in connection with the violence which erupted Oct. 2 at the Western Iowa Pork Co. plant here.

Authorities said 20 more witnesses were scheduled to appear. All 61 persons on trial are members of Local 1225 of the United Packinghouse Workers.

Thursday's testimony centered around identification of persons allegedly seen outside the plant during the violence which erupted after the arrival of 17 Mexican-American workers at the strikebound plant.

One witness, a Pinkerton agent on duty at the plant at the time of the disturbance, was kept on the stand for two hours.

If convicted, those on trial would face a maximum penalty of a fine or 30 days in jail.

The situation at the plant has been quiet since the disturbance. Hog-killing operations were begun on a small scale Tuesday by non-union members who crossed picket lines still at the plant to go to work.

The charges rise out of the alleged violation of a federal restraining order imposed on striking workers at the plant before the disturbance. Federal Judge Bennett Cullison had ordered no more than four pickets could be at the entrances to the plant at any one time.

Chicago Jam Slows Mail

Washington (AP) — The Post Office Department said Thursday a massive pileup at the Chicago Post Office has caused delays of as much as 10 days in the delivery of mail.

Chicago is a key mail transfer point between the Eastern and Western United States and the effect of the mail pileup might be felt throughout much of the nation.

The department blamed the backlog on an unusually heavy volume of pre-Christmas advertising material and "a very high rate of absenteeism among the employees combined with difficulties in recruiting employees."

To combat the effects of the Chicago pileup, post offices in 25 major cities are handling mail that normally would have been processed in Chicago, a spokesman said.

POSTCARD by Stan Delaplane

"The sea, oh the sea, graw gal machree,

"Long may it roll between England and me,

"It's a sure guarantee that some hour we'll be free, "Thank God we're surrounded by water."

"Though it would be nice to be surrounded by whiskey as well," said the Irishman in the old paneled bar at Jammet's.

"The song was written by the brother of Brendan Behan. Brendan died of the drink. God rest his soul for he was a restless man. He wrote with Irish wildness — 'The Quare Fellow' and all that. An IRA boy imprisoned in England, and that's where he had the idea for 'Borstal Boy.'"

Not all Irish still fight the English. But the long history of risings and occupation hold a place in their hearts.

The Lord Nelson monument is down. Last of a series of bombings of the statues the British left behind them. It stood in the center of O'Connell street just below the Liffey bridge, a stone's throw from Jammet's.

It was no beauty — a tall pillar on which the admiral stood in gallant pose. But it was a mark of Dublin center.

It went up with a bang one night. And they've cleaned out the rubble.

A few years ago, persons unknown put the blast on the equestrian statue of General Gough in Phoenix Park. The next was Carlyle.

A year later, police came upon a suspicious character departing from the bronze Earl of Eglinton in St. Stephen's Green. In the heart of Dublin.

They put the sleeve on me bold boy. But when they looked at the statue and heard the hissing fuse, they took off in a hurry. They got 50 yards off when the Earl went up splendidly — wham!

"Now how did they detonate the Lord Nelson? Well may you ask," said the man in Jammet's. "For it took the Army three days to dynamite the base. It was a matter of getting electricity to set off the charge, do you see.

"Many days at the base of the statue they had the free chest X-ray truck. So the day they had the dynamite in place—the way I've figured it out — they hooked up the charge to the X-ray machine. When they took the picture—bang!"

Nobody has put dynamite to the Duke of Wellington — the Iron Duke who, faced by a threat of exposure by a London lady of the evening, said stoutly: "Publish, and be damned."

"He was born in Ireland," said the man in Jammet's, "and yes, I'll have another ball of malt with you.

"The Iron Duke favored Ireland in some legislation about 1819. And his English opposition said: 'Of course, the Duke was born in Ireland.' Meaning by it to put him down.

"The Duke arose and said loftily: 'Being born in a stable does not make one a horse.'

It's desperate weather now, as they say when the wind and rain lash Ireland.

A thousand American dealers in electrical appliances descended today on the city. They are being rewarded for selling more products than their fellow salesmen. (Such incentive plans are curious to Europeans.)

Tourist business this year has been excellent.

Three new hotels have gone up in Dublin, Limerick and Cork. Intercontinentals, the hotel chain that is building in all parts of the world.

☆ ☆ ☆

"Now you see most people in Ireland are not aware of tourist business as such," said the man from the tourist office.

"They'll look on you a different way, not being conscious of the money you spent.

"I was down recently in the south," he said, "and talked to a man in the town. 'D'ye get many tourists?' I asked him. 'No, none,' he said.

"Ye've seen no Americans or English?' I asked him. 'Oh, yes,' he said. 'But no tourists?' I said.

"'No,' he said. 'We don't get any tourists around here. But,' he said, 'we've been getting a terrible amount of visitors.'"

Vatican Council's Impact Should Be Unity—Rogers

Omaha (AP) — A Methodist university president told Catholic educators in Omaha Thursday that the ultimate impact of the second Vatican Council should be the restoration of unity among all Christians.

Dr. Vance D. Rogers, president of Nebraska Wesleyan University in Lincoln, made the observation in an address on "The Impact of Vatican II on Protestantism," prepared for delivery at the Nebraska Catholic Education Association meeting.

He said the second Vatican Council made the unity objective possible by "establishing a new and exciting program of communication and interaction between the non-Catholic and Catholic communities."

"It has also prodded us in our determination to face anew the relevant issues of our time," he added.

"Christendom has two characteristics," he said. "We have the conviction that Christ founded one church and only one church. And we must confess that the church is divided into significant segments.

"Let us anticipate a third characteristic, one indicating the development of a program resulting in the restoration of unity among all Christians."

In the past, Dr. Rogers said, Protestants and Catholics have been "discouragingly derelict in formally and officially communicating with each other."

"Thank God," he added, "this is changing."

The band will climax the show by spelling Ma and Pa and playing "Salute to Parents."

Reserve Call-Up, War Push Urged

Washington (UPI) — Sen. John C. Stennis, predicting 500,000 U.S. fighting men would be in Viet Nam by the end of next year, urged President Johnson Thursday to use the authority given him by Congress to call up reservists for combat duty.

The powerful chairman of the Senate military preparedness subcommittee said one high-ranking general forecast that 750,000 American troops eventually would be required in Viet Nam.

Stennis estimated that the war was costing $2 billion a month. He said the supplemental money request for the war next year would involve $12 to 15 million.

Sen. Strom Thurmond, R-S.C., a member of the Senate Armed Services Committee, followed Stennis in the Senate discussion of the war. He said the United States could win the war in 90 days if it wanted to.

"The powerful United States groveling on the ground begging someone to come to the peace table is disgraceful," Thurmond said. "I hope the people rise up and demand we win the war and bring the boys home."

"I hope the President continues on his present course seeking honorable negotiations for an honorable peace."

President Johnson, asked at his new conference about the criticism, said, "From the earliest days of the Republic, senators have expressed themselves forcefully, eloquently, and in most cases, wisely."

Wells Calls License Jam Unreasonable

The present county treasurer is not serving taxpayers by forcing the public to jam the county courthouse each year to renew motor vehicle licenses, according to Willard J. Wells, Democratic candidate for county treasurer.

Wells said, "It is unreasonable to make citizens stand in line for long periods of time to renew their motor vehicle licenses. The obvious solution is to open offices outside the county courthouse, as do the assessor and voter registration offices."

Wells, 61, charged that the present treasurer, Carl Berg, 75, has refused to open such offices.

Wells, former state purchasing agent, stated, "I believe that it is time for a change in this system. Government is established as a service to the people. It should be as easy as possible for people to fulfill their responsibilities to their government."

Nuclear Energy To Give Israel Water, Power?

Washington (UPI) — President Johnson said Thursday that he has assigned Ambassador-At-Large Ellsworth Bunker to review proposals for using nuclear energy in producing fresh water and electricity for Israel.

The President told a White House news conference that he was determined to make a "substantial breakthrough" in the field of desalting water "during my term of office if that is at all possible."

Karnopp Receives Endorsement

Sheriff Merle Karnopp has announced endorsement of his candidancy for re-election by "three experienced law enforcement officials."

Karnopp listed endorsements from:

Myles Holloway, former GOP Lancaster County sheriff.

"I am pleased to have the bi-partisan support of these experienced law enforcement officials," Karnopp said, "and encouraged that they have urged their supporters to back me for re-election."

Nelson said he worked very hard in the primary and some of the issues he raised were good ones, and many have been corrected. Others will take time, he said.

Tenopir said he was defeated in the primary by a man who, "in my opinion, is not a law enforcement officer and who has had no experience or training for the important office of county sheriff."

Holloway said Karnopp served under him as a deputy and was "an outstanding officer." "Lancaster county is fortunate to have Merle Karnopp as sheriff and I am sure I'm in a position to know," he said.

Appeals Court Upholds Law Against Burning Draft Cards

New York (UPI) — The U.S. Court of Appeals, in a landmark decision, Thursday upheld the constitutionality of the federal law prohibiting the burning of draft cards.

The unanimous decision rejected an appeal by David J. Miller, 24, of Syracuse, N.Y., who was the first man convicted and sentenced for burning his draft card.

Miller received a suspended sentence of three years in prison and was put on probation for two years on condition that he obey all Selective Service requirements. Under the law — specifically, an amendment to the Selective Service Act — he could have been sent to prison for five years and fined $5,000.

He contended that the burning of the card was a symbolic protest against the draft, against U.S. military action in Viet Nam and against the law forbidding draft-card burning.

Thursday's opinion, written by appeals Judge Wilfred Feinberg, said the case raised "perplexing issues of whether symbolic conduct is speech embraced by the 1st Amendment, and the extent to which it is protected thereunder."

Feinberg added, however, that "the ultimate question before the court is the power of Congress to enact the legislation."

The court decided that the statute was a proper exercise of congressional power despite Miller's contention that it is "a silly law."

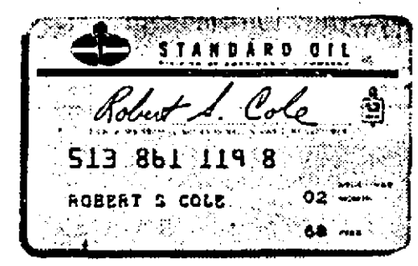

"It is not the province of the judiciary to praise or condemn this law; our function is to determine only the power of Congress in enacting the statute, not its wisdom," the opinion said.

"We find that the statute is neither arbitrary nor without purpose, that it is reasonably related to the power of Congress to raise and support armies, and that it reinforces an obligation which has been imposed on registrants for many years."

Feinberg added, however, that "the ultimate question before the court is the power of Congress to enact the legislation."

The court decided that the statute was a proper exercise of congressional power despite Miller's contention that it is "a silly law."

"It is not the province of the judiciary to praise or condemn this law; our function is to determine only the power of Congress in enacting the statute, not its wisdom," the opinion said.

"We find that the statute is neither arbitrary nor without purpose, that it is reasonably related to the power of Congress to raise and support armies, and that it reinforces an obligation which has been imposed on registrants for many years."

Game Commission Will Request $25.4 Million Budget

By Associated Press

State Game Commission Director Mel Steen announced Thursday the commission will request a total 1967-69 budget of $25.4 million, an increase of about $7.6 million or 45% from its appropriation for the current two-year period.

The additional dollars, mostly from federal and cash sources, would be used primarily to expand the commission's state and local park development program and tourist promotion activities, Steen said.

The budget calls for continuation of the special .30 mill property tax levy for state parks and the allocation of 35% of the receipts from a two-cent hike in the cigarette tax authorized by the last Legislature.

About half of the total request of $25,451,939 would be spent on capital improvement and development projects which would "meet the social and recreational needs of Nebraskans . . . and develop new and substantial income through tourist trade," Steen said.

The director said an anticipated increase in the number of non-resident hunters and fishermen should push the state game fund to $12.5 million during the coming two-year period, an increase of $3 million from the present biennium.

Those dollars, gathered primarily through the sale of permits and federal grants, would be used to develop the state's fish and wildlife program.

The request for the land and water conservation fund is $8.6 million, including a $1 million increase in federal money, to finance state and local park and recreation projects.

The commission estimated the special park tax levy will raise $3.2 million during the next biennium and "if property tax for state purposes is voted out (in the November election), then a like sum must be appropriated from whatever new source of revenue is enacted," Steen said.

Steen said the commission will seek $582,145 from the state general fund for its tourist-trade promotion activities, which received only $150,000 in general fund dollars for the 1965-67 period.

"In the past, inadequate funds have been a serious handicap to our tourist promotion efforts," Steen said.

24 Couples To Attend Conference

Twenty-four couples from Nebraska will be attending the Fifth National Methodist Conference on Family Life in Chicago this weekend, Nebraska Methodist Church headquarters reported Thursday.

The conference, Friday through Sunday, is expected to draw more than 3,000.

Study Unit To Sponsor PKU Test Legislation

By Associated Press

A Legislative Council study committee agreed Thursday to sponsor legislation requiring that all babies be tested for phenylketonuria (PKU), a disease which can cause mental retardation.

The committee said it will recommend that the 1967 Legislature appropriate state funds to establish a central state laboratory to analyze the thousands of samples.

In addition, the proposed legislation would require all physicians and hospitals to conduct follow-up, confirmation tests on infants who were believed to have PKU, the committee said.

A mandatory PKU testing law was opposed at a public hearing by Dr. Warren Bosley of Grand Island, chairman of the State Mental Association's Maternal and Child Health Committee.

"If you make the PKU test mandatory, then will you make treatment mandatory and a certain kind of treatment mandatory?" he asked.

He said PKU causes only about three cases of mental retardation annually in Nebraska and anti-mental retardation efforts should be concentrated on improvement of pre-natal and obstetrical care.

Dr. Robert Kugel, chairman of the Department of Pediatrics at the University of Nebraska College of Medicine, supported a mandatory PKU testing program.

He said the incidence of PKU is under-estimated and noted a PKU test costs only about 50 cents.

Committee Chairman Fern Hubbard Orme of Lincoln said a committee survey showed that only 87 of 130 hospitals questioned give PKU tests to babies as part of the normal procedure, while another 19 hospitals give the tests if requested by the physician.

Demo Ladies To Campaign In Nebraska

Washington (AP) — The Democratic National Committee again is launching its female "flying caravan" to campaign in 20 states, including Nebraska, on behalf of party candidates in the Nov. 8 election.

At least 15 women — high administration officials, and wives of cabinet members, senators and administration officials — begin campaigning next Monday. The caravan first took to the hustings in 1964.

Miss Eva Adams, director of the U.S. Mint, and Mrs. Robert Komer, wife of the deputy special assistant to the President for national security affairs, will visit Nebraska and Iowa.

Mrs. Stewart Udall, wife of the secretary of the interior, and Mrs. Leonard Marks, wife of the director of the U.S. Information Agency, will go to Colorado, Wyoming, Montana and North Dakota.

Governor's Wife Named WICS Day Chairman

Mrs. Frank B. Morrison, wife of Nebraska's governor, has been named honorary chairman for WICS Day in Nebraska, honoring volunteers in the Women in Community Service organization.

WICS was organized in 1964 by the National Council of Catholic Women, National Council of Jewish Women, National Council of Negro Women and United Church Women to assist the government in recruiting and screening girls for the Women's Job Corps.

Announcement is being made by Mr. and Mrs. Louis Vavrina of the betrothal of their daughter, Mary Ann, to A.3C Dale E. Lynes, USAF, son of Mr. and Mrs. Cleo Lynes of Eureka, Kan.

Plans are being made for a wedding in March.

Autumn Wedding

The wedding of Miss Judi Lynn Isaacs of Lincoln, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Isaacs of Unadilla, and Fred Merriman, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Merriman, took place Thursday evening, Oct. 13, at the Christian Church in Unadilla. The service was solemnized at 7 o'clock by the Rev. Herman Trauernicht, and Mrs. William Brandt, organist, played the wedding music.

Miss Sandra Isaacs was the maid of honor and her sister's only attendant, and wore a costume suit in power blue with matching accessories. She carried a nosegay of pink carnations.

Serving his brother as best man was Thomas Merriman.

For her wedding, the bride chose a two-piece ensemble in white brocade, fashioned in the daytime mode. Her accessories were white, and she wore a head bow of the brocade briefly veiled with illusion. Her rounded bouquet was formed of white feathered carnations centered with a lavender orchid.

Following a wedding trip to southern states, Mr. and Mrs. Merriman will live in Lincoln at 1608 Washington.

Revealing plans this morning for her mid-autumn wedding is Miss Nancy Louise Gergen, who will become the bride of G. Douglas Savery on Saturday, Nov. 12.

The future bride, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Irvin A. Gergen of Dunbar, has announced that her wedding will take place at a 3 o'clock afternoon service, to be solemnized at the Cathedral Of The Risen Christ.

Miss Mary Gergen of Dunbar will attend her sister as maid of honor, and the junior bridesmaids will be Miss Joyce Gergen of Dunbar, also a sister of the bride-elect, and Mr. Savery's sister, Miss Pamela Savery.

Serving his brother as best man will be Kent Savery, and the groomsmen will be Gregg Savery, also a brother of the bridegroom-elect, and Bert Wells of Greenwood

Miss Terri Franzen will be the flower girl, and the ringbearer will be Todd Franzen both of Gothenburg.

Wendell Carothers of Colorado Springs will serve his brother as best man, and the groomsmen will be Bill Perk and Ken Jambor.

The bride-elect will be the guest of honor on Wednesday evening, Oct. 26, when her sister, Mrs. John McCreary will entertain at a prenuptial courtesy at her home.

2. You are declarer with the West hand at Three Notrump. North leads the jack of spades. How would you play the hand?

1. Win the heart in your hand, cash the K-A of spade and ruff a spade. Then cash the ace of diamonds and exit with the ten.

It does not matter how the adverse cards are divided or how North-South choose to defend; in all cases you can be sure of the contract. If North wins the diamond, he is bound to give you the tenth trick whether he returns a diamond (establishing a trick for you), or a club (into your A-Q), or a spade (giving you a ruff and discard).

If South wins the diamond and returns a low club, you finesse the nine, thus endplaying North so that he must yield the game-going trick. The same result accrues if South returns the ten or jack of clubs. You simply cover with the queen.

If South wins the ten of diamonds and returns a low diamond, you discard a club, thus insuring the contract, while if South returns a spade, you get a ruff and discard.

All roads lead to Rome.

2. If you were to play the ace and another club after winning the spade, you would almost surely go down even though you found the clubs divided 2-1. One defender or the other would win the club and return a spade, and you would find yourself with only eight running tricks. If you then attempted to establish a ninth trick by leading a diamond, the defense would presumably grab the ace and cash a minimum of three spade tricks to defeat the contract at least one.

Instead of following the hopeless course, you should win the spade and play a low diamond towards dummy at trick two. This play offers a legitimate chance to make the contract. If North has either the A-x or A-x-x of diamonds, he must duck; otherwise, you have nine easy tricks.

Having "stolen" the diamond, you now play a club—intending to finesse the nine if South follows with the eight. Unless North has all the missing clubs, you make the contract.

Game Commission Will Request $25.4 Million Budget

By Associated Press

State Game Commission Director Mel Steen announced Thursday the commission will request a total 1967-69 budget of $25.4 million, an increase of about $7.6 million or 45% from its appropriation for the current two-year period.

The additional dollars, mostly from federal and cash sources, would be used primarily to expand the commission's state and local park development program and tourist promotion activities, Steen said.

The budget calls for continuation of the special .30 mill property tax levy for state parks and the allocation of 35% of the receipts from a two-cent hike in the cigarette tax authorized by the last Legislature.

About half of the total request of $25,451,939 would be spent on capital improvement and development projects which would "meet the social and recreational needs of Nebraskans . . . and develop new and substantial income through tourist trade," Steen said.

The director said an anticipated increase in the number of non-resident hunters and fishermen should push the state game fund to $12.5 million during the coming two-year period, an increase of $3 million from the present biennium.

Those dollars, gathered primarily through the sale of permits and federal grants, would be used to develop the state's fish and wildlife program.

The request for the land and water conservation fund is $8.6 million, including a $1 million increase in federal money, to finance state and local park and recreation projects.

The commission estimated the special park tax levy will raise $3.2 million during the next biennium and "if property tax for state purposes is voted out (in the November election), then a like sum must be appropriated from whatever new source of revenue is enacted," Steen said.

Steen said the commission will seek $582,145 from the state general fund for its tourist-trade promotion activities, which received only $100,000 in general fund dollars for the 1965-67 period.

"In the past, inadequate funds have been a serious handicap to our tourist promotion efforts," Steen said.

24 Couples To Attend Conference

Twenty-four couples from Nebraska will be attending the Fifth National Methodist Conference on Family Life in Chicago this weekend, Nebraska Methodist Church headquarters reported Thursday.

The conference, Friday through Sunday, is expected to draw more than 3,000.

Study Unit To Sponsor PKU Test Legislation

By Associated Press

A Legislative Council study committee agreed Thursday to sponsor legislation requiring that all babies be tested for phenylketonuria (PKU), a disease which can cause mental retardation.

The committee said it will recommend that the 1967 Legislature appropriate state funds to establish a central state laboratory to analyze the thousands of samples.

In addition, the proposed legislation would require all physicians and hospitals to conduct follow-up, confirmation tests on infants who were believed to have PKU, the committee said.

A mandatory PKU testing law was opposed at a public hearing by Dr. Warren Bosley of Grand Island, chairman of the State Mental Association's Maternal and Child Health Committee.

"If you make the PKU test mandatory, then will you make treatment mandatory and a certain kind of treatment mandatory?" he asked.

He said PKU causes only about three cases of mental retardation annually in Nebraska and anti-mental retardation efforts should be concentrated on improvement of pre-natal and obstetrical care.

Dr. Robert Kugel, chairman of the Department of Pediatrics at the University of Nebraska College of Medicine, supported a mandatory PKU testing program.

He said the incidence of PKU is under-estimated and noted a PKU test costs only about 50 cents.

Committee Chairman Fern Hubbard Orme of Lincoln said a committee survey showed that only 87 of 130 hospitals questioned give PKU tests to babies as part of the normal procedure, while another 19 hospitals give the tests if requested by the physician.

Demo Ladies To Campaign In Nebraska

Washington (AP) — The Democratic National Committee again is launching its female "flying caravan" to campaign in 20 states, including Nebraska, on behalf of party candidates in the Nov. 8 election.

At least 15 women — high administration officials, and wives of cabinet members, senators and administration officials — begin campaigning next Monday. The caravan first took to the hustings in 1964.

Miss Eva Adams, director of the U.S. Mint, and Mrs. Robert Komer, wife of the deputy special assistant to the President for national security affairs, will visit Nebraska and Iowa.

Mrs. Stewart Udall, wife of the secretary of the interior, and Mrs. Leonard Marks, wife of the director of the U.S. Information Agency, will go to Colorado, Wyoming, Montana and North Dakota.

Governor's Wife Named WICS Day Chairman

Mrs. Frank B. Morrison, wife of Nebraska's governor, has been named honorary chairman for WICS Day in Nebraska, honoring volunteers in the Women in Community Service organization.

WICS was organized in 1964 by the National Council of Catholic Women, National Council of Jewish Women, National Council of Negro Women and United Church Women to assist the government in recruiting and screening girls for the Women's Job Corps.

WINTER wedding is planned

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Kohl of Crete make announcement this morning of the engagement of their daughter, Susan Kay, to Dan O. Walker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Victor Walker, also of Crete.

A winter wedding is planned.

Miss Kohl is a graduate of St. Elizabeth Hospital School of Nursing.

Mr. Walker is serving with the Army and currently is stationed at Saigon, Viet Nam.

IN the suburban areas

If you don't like the weather—wait a minute. It'll change! Lincoln residents have frozen in the mornings until like the autumn trees they turned to reds and golds, or in the afternoons temperatures have been reminiscent of the fourth of July.

This crazy combination hasn't affected suburban travelers in the least. Southern Pines, N. C., Minneapolis, Kan. and Enid, Okla. are only three stops on the busy Lincoln itinerary.

EASTBOROUGH

A young military man recently returned from Viet Nam was the houseguest of Mr. and Mrs. Norman H. Peterson early this week. Mr. and Mrs. Peterson entertained Lt. James Parker of Southern Pines, N.C. who is en route to his new station at Ft. Ord, Calif.

Lt. Parker and the Peterson's son, Lt. Larry Peterson, were both called overseas at the same time. Lt. Peterson also is stationed at Ft. Ord now.

Geneva travelers during the weekend were Mr. and Mrs. William Brandt and their two youngsters, Miles and Jo Ellen. The Lincoln family visited with Mrs. Brandt's brother-in-law and sister, Dr. and Mrs. Delwin Anderson and their daughter, Leslie, on Saturday and Sunday.

Another family outing in Eastborough during a fun-filled weekend was the one enjoyed by Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Degenhardt. The nine family members were joined by Mrs. Theresa Degenhardt of Crete, and were the houseguests of Mrs. Raymond Degenhardt's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Richard in Miltonvale, Kan.

On their return home the travelers stopped in Minneapolis, Kan., to visit with Mrs. Ethel Austin who was celebrating her birthday Sunday.

LINCOLN HEIGHTS

The very young feminine members of suburban society had their day on Thursday afternoon when Carol Swaim, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Swaim, celebrated her sixth birthday. Carol was supper hostess to 15 friends and to her two older sisters, Brenda and Pam.

PERSHING HEIGHTS

A birthday celebration brought visitors to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Loyal McNeill during the weekend. Arriving from Enid, Okla. were Mr. and Mrs. McNeill's son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Duane McNeill.

The younger Mr. McNeill's Sunday birthday was celebrated at a family afternoon party. Guests were Mr. and Mrs. Richard Svoboda.

BERLENE HEIGHTS

There hasn't been this much commotion at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Fiene in several months—until this week. Mr. and Mrs. Fiene were the happy hosts to four grandchildren for four days when Michael, Katherine, Douglas and Diana Fiene were houseguests. The young foursome remained with their grandparents until Wednesday evening, when their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Fiene, returned from a business trip in Denver, Colo.

Mrs. Augusta Hruza of Burwell was a seven-day visitor at the home of her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Emil Hynek, last week. While in the city Mrs. Hruza also took time to visit with several other Lincoln relatives.

ABBY boys are thoughtless

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Tonight my heart aches for my 13-year-old daughter who once again attended an after-school dance without an invitation to dance one dance.

When her older brother was that age and popular with the crowd I always encouraged him to ask the not-so-popular girls to dance, impressing upon him how much it could mean to a girl who might not otherwise receive one invitation to dance during the entire evening.

I was proud that he followed my advice. I wish other mothers would tell their sons the same thing. Will you help me, Abby? It could mean so much to the girls.

A MOTHER IN KENT

DEAR MOTHER: You bet I will. An ounce of thoughtfulness can ease a ton of heartache.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 38-year-old bachelor who lives with my mother to help out as much as possible. For the last three years my brother, who is a school teacher, has lived in our town with his family. They are over at our small place more than in their own home. They come here for supper every night, and when there are dishes to be washed afterwards, they break the 4-minute mile getting away.

My mother claims it is HER house and I am not allowed to say a word. She says if I leave she can have the law bring me back because she is a hardship case. I would consider Thanksgiving in Viet Nam a blessing. Is there any escape?

HELPLESS

DEAR HELPLESS: Anyone who would consider Thanksgiving in Viet Nam a blessing would have a tough time passing the physical, so forget it.

There is no law that can force a man to live with his mother even though she is a hardship case, so if you don't like the set-up there, move, and contribute to your mother's support some other way.

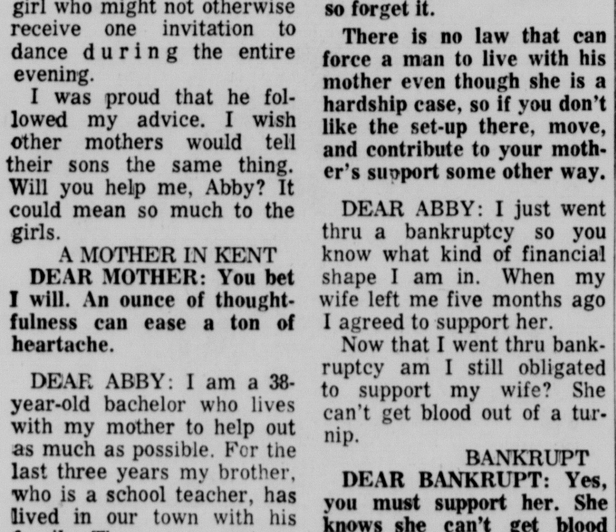

DEAR ABBY: I just went thru a bankruptcy so you know what kind of financial shape I am in. When my wife left me five months ago I agreed to support her.

Now that I went thru bankruptcy am I still obligated to support my wife? She can't get blood out of a turnip.

BANKRUPT

DEAR BANKRUPT: Yes, you must support her. She knows she can't get blood out of a turnip. But you're no turnip, and maybe she'd rather have blood than nothing. What does your lawyer say?

Problems? Write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. For a personal reply, inclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

CANDLES
to give LARC a happy glow

LARC School already has a very warm spot in Lincoln hearts, but the school itself will have even a greater glow, thanks to Chi Omega's candles.

Chi Omega alumnae will be having a candle sale on Friday, Oct. 28, and Saturday, Oct. 29, in the gymnasium at Westminster Presbyterian Church, and the proceeds are to go to LARC School.

We hear that there are candles for all occasions—tall candles, short candles, in-between-size candles. Some of them will be beautifully decorated or, if one prefers, there are those that are unadorned. Then, just to add an extra touch, one will find the beautiful candles in arrangements, and the arrangements are the handiwork of Chi Omega alumnae members.

The committee in charge of the candle sale held its last meeting on Thursday morning at the home of Mrs. Gordon Pauley—and if you look closely you may find just the candle you have been hoping to find.

TALK

We've been talking about Homecoming for so many days we think it's time for a change. There is some Homecoming news, of course, and it involves guests.

We have just learned that Mr. and Mrs. S. Thomas Miller and their two sons, Mark and Scott, of Cedar Falls, Iowa, will be the game weekend guests of Mr. Miller's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Miller, and Mrs. Miller's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Arth. Both Mr. and Mrs. Miller are University of Nebraska alumni.

* * *

We heard, too, that some interesting guests are arriving later this month—but more about them at a later date.

Right now we have news of the new members of the Fifty Fifty Club which, by the way, is having its first dinner dance of the season next Tuesday evening at Hotel Lincoln.

To be welcomed into the club are Mr. and Mrs. Edmund O. Belsheim, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bouse, Mr. and Mrs. Galen Fritchie, Mr. and Mrs. Butler Isaman, the Rev. and Mrs. Thomas Keefe, Mr. and Mrs. Hartley McCoy, Mr. and Mrs. Merwin Phelps, Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Phillips, Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Harm—and from Crete, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Aaron.

Also taking a bow at the party will be the new officers including Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Bridges, president; Dr. and Mrs. Hollis Askey, first vice-president; Mr. and Mrs. Ted Brandt, second vice-president; Mr. and Mrs. Clair Human, secretary-treasurer, and advisors Mr. and Mrs. Roy Sagness and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Stout.

CANDLES
to give LARC a happy glow

LARC School already has a very warm spot in Lincoln hearts, but the school itself will have even a greater glow, thanks to Chi Omega's candles.

Chi Omega alumnae will be having a candle sale on Friday, Oct. 28, and Saturday, Oct. 29, in the gymnasium at Westminster Presbyterian Church, and the proceeds are to go to LARC School.

We hear that there are candles for all occasions—tall candles, short candles, in-between-size candles. Some of them will be beautifully decorated or, if one prefers, there are those that are unadorned. Then, just to add an extra touch, one will find the beautiful candles in arrangements, and the arrangements are the handiwork of Chi Omega alumnae members.

The committee in charge of the candle sale held its last meeting on Thursday morning at the home of Mrs. Gordon Pauley—and if you look closely you may find just the candle you have been hoping to find.

TALK

We've been talking about Homecoming for so many days we think it's time for a change. There is some Homecoming news, of course, and it involves guests.

We have just learned that Mr. and Mrs. S. Thomas Miller and their two sons, Mark and Scott, of Cedar Falls, Iowa, will be the game weekend guests of Mr. Miller's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Miller, and Mrs. Miller's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Arth. Both Mr. and Mrs. Miller are University of Nebraska alumni.

• • •

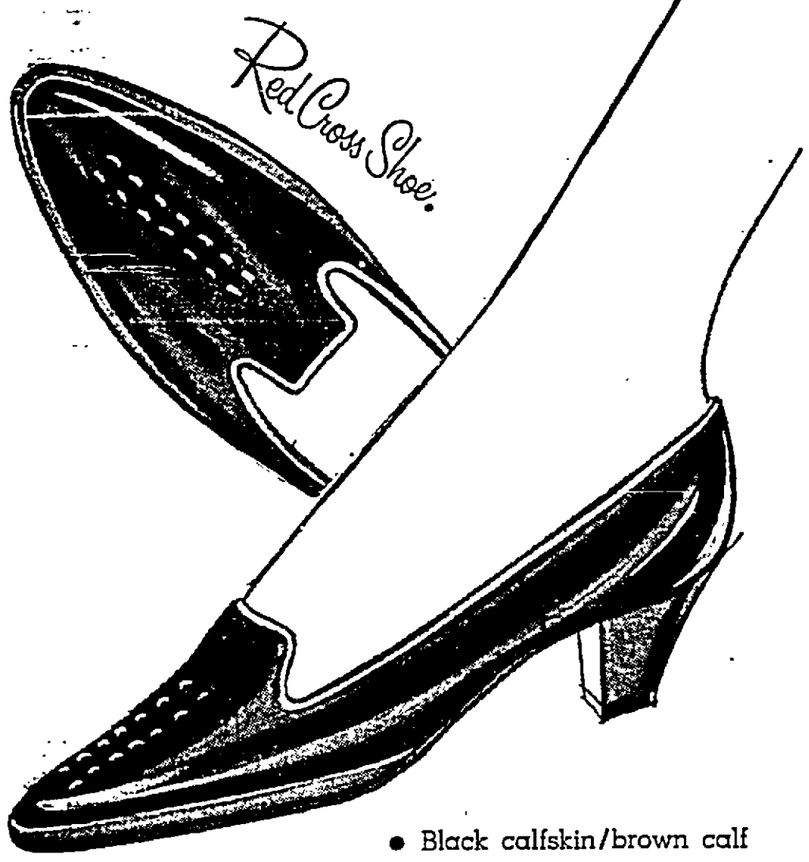

We heard, too, that some interesting guests are arriving later this month—but more about them at a later date.

Right now we have news of the new members of the Fifty Fifty Club which, by the way, is having its first dinner dance of the season next Tuesday evening at Hotel Lincoln.

To be welcomed into the club are Mr. and Mrs. Edmund O. Belsheim, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bouse, Mr. and Mrs. Galen Fritchie, Mr. and Mrs. Butler Isaman, the Rev. and Mrs. Thomas Keefe, Mr. and Mrs. Hartley McCoy, Mr. and Mrs. Merwin Phelps, Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Phillips, Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Harm—and from Crete, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Aaron.

Also taking a bow at the party will be the new officers including Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Bridges, president; Dr. and Mrs. Hollis Askey, first vice-president; Mr. and Mrs. Ted Brandt, second vice-president; Mr. and Mrs. Clair Human, secretary-treasurer, and advisors Mr. and Mrs. Roy Sagness and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Stout.

Grandma Wouldn't Do It

Before you hit me with the stinging words the next time you see me, "Ah, my grandmother could have picked them better than you did last week," I'll agree.

With that in mind after last week's disastrous 26 right, 21 wrong and three ties for a .550 percentage, dropping the season mark to 132 right, 68 wrong and five ties for .656, I thought of my grandmother.

But the dollar and a dime of the company money I spent calling her was squandered when she replied, "I noticed how lousy you were, but I think you've got the predictions so messed up now, no one could pick 'em right on your page."

She then offered me an alternative. "If you want to come home, I'll do all I can to get you a job in the Goodwill sewing on buttons on torn dresses," she offered. "But as dumb as you are, you'd probably sew the bottons on backwards."

When Eddie Lebsack even turned down the offer to take over as the picker in this two-column space, I knew I was in trouble. He said he was too busy trying to get his band assembled to greet the Nebraska alumni flying in from California.

So since this space must be filled with something, I'll have to try one more week:

The Big Eight

NEBRASKA 39, Kansas State 0 . . . Husker coach Bob Devaney will be faced with the problem of going to potential redshirts if he wants to hold the score down.

COLORADO 13, Iowa State 10 . . . Don't be surprised if the Cyclones stun the Buffaloes—and without benefit of a land mine.

OKLAHOMA 21, Kansas 7 . . . The Sooners are still dreaming of that win over Texas, but they'll be awakened in time to whip the Jayhawks.

MISSOURI 14, Oklahoma State 10 . . . Tigers have always been tougher than Cowboys.

Boys Town Threatens Pius' Ranking

. . . LINCOLN HIGH BATTLES KNIGHTS

By DON FORSYTHE
Prep Sports Writer

Lincoln High and Southeast put lofty Trans-Nebraska Conference ambitions on the block and Pius X and Boys Town clash in a game with possible state title overtones in Capital City football fare Friday night.

While these clubs are occupied in Lincoln, Northeast travels to Hastings to resume its Trans-Nebraska schedule.

Pius X, which whipped Boys Town four years ago and has since that time lost three straight to the Cowboys, risks its unbeaten mark in an 8 p.m Homecoming contest against the Cowboys.

The invaders, ranked No. 8 in Class A and leading the Metropolitan Conference National Division race, boast one of the state's top backs in Nate McKinney.

"He runs like he had radar," says Pius X coach Vince Aldrich of the 185-pound junior who has zipped for 12 touchdowns thus far.

"Boys Town isn't as big this year, but they have a lot of quickness," he says of the club which brings a 4-1 record to Lincoln.

"I just hope we can contain their backs and hit them before they get out of the backfield," the coach of the unbeaten and second-ranked Thunderbolts observes.

Lincoln High (1-0-1) and Southeast (2-1) are running 2-3 behind Northeast (1-0) in the Trans-Nebraska race and a loss will knock either out of the title picture.

Quarterback Craig Lutz, who missed the Bellevue game, will be out again this week.

"I thought Scott Dworak turned in a good job for us last week, and with another week to work on it we should be better off this week," says Southeast coach Bill Stephenson.

"Our primary worry is Lincoln High's speed. If their backs get in the open we don't have anybody who can catch them," he says.

The Links, working on a two-game winning string, hope to keep their offensive momentum rolling.

The switch of sure-handed Don Mohlman from quarterback to end three weeks ago has played a big part in the improvement of the Lincoln High attack.

"He's caught 10 passes in two games and this passing threat has helped make our running game more effective," says coach Andy Loehr.

Tigers Add Moses

Sugar Bowl To Watch Huskers

By HAL BROWN
Star Sports Editor

Two Sugar Bowl representatives will be among the press box occupants Saturday when Nebraska entertains Kansas State in a Homecoming Day contest at Memorial Stadium.

And those representatives, Dr. Fred Wolfe and Theo Maumus, will be hoping they can rub enough New Orleans magic off on Nebraskans that they'll want to spend their Christmas Holidays in the Louisiana area.

A year ago, the Sugar Bowl lost the Huskers to the Orange Bowl where the Scarlet and Cream was treated rather rudely by Alabama.

This year, the Sugar Bowl figures it will start a week earlier in its efforts to woo the Huskers. They first saw Nebraska in the sixth game last year, against Colorado. This year, they have come one game earlier.

But an appearance by bowl officials doesn't necessarily mean an invitation. This must be warranted by the performance on the field and Husker coach Bob Devaney is more concerned at the moment that his squad continue to show improvement than he is about bowl games.

The Huskers wound up drills Thursday afternoon for the Saturday test and had back Charlie Winters in uniform for the first time this week.

The Husker back has been confined to Student Health with a charlie horse and NU trainers said his status for Saturday was doubtful.

Devaney indicated Winters would not be used unless he were able to go full speed.

MERGER HOPES DIM

Celler Refuses 'Pig In Poke'

. . . LANGUAGE A PROBLEM

Washington (AP)—Hopes dimmed Thursday for Congressional approval of a bill that would clear the way for the merger of the National and American Football Leagues.

Lawyers for the combined leagues and the House Antitrust Subcommittee were unable to agree on language exempting the proposed merger from antitrust action.

With Congress hoping to adjourn next week and subcommittee chairman Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., declaring he wants to "plumb the depths" of the merger plan, there appears little chance the House will get to act on the bill.

Only the fact that a substantial majority of Celler's subcommittee favors the bill keeps alive a faint possibility that it might still squeeze through. If it doesn't, NFL Commissioner Pete Rozelle says he will urge that the merger be called off.

League lawyer Hamilton Carothers and subcommittee counsel Kenneth R. Harkins, who were asked by Celler Tuesday to try to draft a strictly limited bill, disclosed Thursday they are in fundamental disagreement.

Returning for a third session with the subcommittee, Carothers said Harkins' proposal for exempting the combining of the leagues is so narrow as to be meaningless. Harkins countered by saying Carothers wants a "blank check" exemption that would put the league's future operations outside the reach of the law.

In questioning Rozelle and Carothers, Harkins indicated concern that the merger agreement could lead to increased use of pay television by the member clubs.

It was the matter of future arrangements stemming from the merger that Celler and Harkins showed themselves to be in complete disagreement with Rozelle and Carothers. Celler said the exemption requested by the league would also exempt such future actions. Rozelle and Carothers insisted it would not.

Celler was prodded by subcommittee members to accept Rozelle's assurances on the point and speed action on the bill, but he refused to be hurried.

"Most members of the subcommittee are not familiar with all the details of this merger agreement," he said, "so in a sense we're being asked to buy a pig in a poke.

"Unfortunately, the Senate never held hearings on the bill they passed. I don't know what it does. We're like a blind man looking for a black cat in a dark room."

Husker Frosh Game Postponed

The football game between the Kansas State and Nebraska freshman teams was postponed from Friday until Monday at 2:30 p.m. in the Cornhuskers' Memorial Stadium.

Athletic directors Tippy Dye of Nebraska and Bebe Lee of Kansas State made a joint decision Thursday night in view of a weather forecast calling for heavy rains in the Lincoln area. The officials did not want to take the chance of tearing up the field before the K-State-Nebraska varsity game Saturday.

Meanwhile, Nebraska freshman grid coach John Melton's wife, Beverly, gave birth Thursday night to the couple's first son, Michael Robert, at Lincoln General Hospital. The child weighs five pounds, 13 ounces. The couple have two daughters, Cindy and Margy.

O-State Sharp In Final Practice

Stillwater, Okla. (AP)—Oklahoma State wound up preparations Thursday for its Saturday game with Missouri at Columbia and coach Phil Cutchin said the squad "looked sharp."

"That is, if you can tell much about them in sweat clothes," he added. "We'll know after the game whether we were ready."

. . . OFFENSE VS. DEFENSE

When an irresistable force meets an immovable object, somewhere, somehow, something has to give.

The somewhere is Magee Stadium Friday night when two Nebraska college undefeateds, Doane and Nebraska Wesleyan, collide head-on . . . literally.

Coach Al Papik's Doane Tigers have shown the finest offense in the state in rolling to a 3-0 record so far. The Tigers are averaging over 290 yards rushing a game and a total offense of 389 yards an outing.

All this pitted aginst the state's best defense against scoring — Wesleyan's. Only one six pointer and five field goals have been notched against the Plainsmen on the way to a 4-0 standard.

If anything does give, Papik naturally hopes it's the Wesleyan defense because he's had enough of the Plainsmen defenders. Doane hasn't scored on NWU in the last three years.

"We were hoping to score last year," Papik says, "but I think our offense is better this year. All I can say is I hope we score enough Friday to win."

Overlooked in all the hoopla about Doane's offense is their fine defense. Tiger defenders have given up only 150 yards total offense per game. Their front five on defense averages 227 pounds, topped by end Fred Davis—a 245 pounder.

Wesleyan coach Ray Westover naturally is concerned about the Doane running game which features a bowling ball fullback who has played only two varsity games.

Wayne Harriers Tie Wesleyan

Wayne and Wesleyan battled to a 28-28 tie in a cross country dual at Holmes Park Thursday.

A. D. Bensen of Wayne won individual honors with a time of 22:15 over the four-mile course, with Jim Comstock of Wesleyan second by about 80 yards.

Buffs' Bartelt Out With Injury

Boulder, Colo. (AP)—Colorado regular placekicker, Dave Bartelt, will be left behind when the 45-member traveling squad flies to Ames Friday for a Big Eight football game Saturday with Iowa State.

Bartelt, a linebacker, suffered a shoulder separation in the late stages of Colorado's 11-10 loss last week to Oklahoma State.

Coach Eddie Crowder said the place-kicking chores will be handled by Hale Irwin, Colorado's versatile defensive back who can play any position in the offensive or defensive backfields.

Pros Turn Tourney Back To Amateurs

By HAL BROWN
Star Sports Editor

The Nebraska State Men's Amateur Golf Tournament will go back to amateur control for the 1967 tournament with the Nebraska Section of the Professional Golfers Association voting to turn operation of the tourney over to the amateurs.

The Nebraska PGA has been in charge of the tournament for several years, but in the past few years has been subject to criticism for its operations in the amateur field.

"We have had problems locating sites for the tournament," a spokesman for the Nebraska PGA said in discussing the group's action. "And we would have gone to our March meeting again this time without a site to hold the tournament.

"We felt that the amateurs themselves would have more authority than the pros to offer their clubs for use in conducting the tournament.

"If the amateurs can set up a board willing to work and to spend a little time with the tournament, they can get things set up so each course would have to take the tournament only once every 10 years.

"If any course refused to go along with that, they would look bad in the eyes of the amateur golfers."

At the same time that the Nebraska PGA voted to sever its connection with the tournament, it also asserted that it would help the amateurs set up the machinery necessary to take over control of the tourney.

"We'll help them in any way we can," the spokesman said. "And I think each of us will do our part to run a good tournament when it is at our club."

The men's tourney was the only major state championship in the amateur ranks which did not have its own governing body from the amateur ranks.

A Nebraska State Ladies Golf Association and a Nebraska State Men's Senior Golf Association conduct their respective tourneys.

"We have seen how well the senior association has run its tournaments and there is no reason the amateurs of this state can't run the State Men's Amateur just as well," the spokesman pointed out.

Nebraska is one of the few states which does not have a State Men's Amateur Association and much coffee cup chatter at recent state tournaments has centered on the formation of such an association.

The move by the Nebraska PGA has now cleared the way for the amateurs to begin their movement.

Husker Harriers In Saturday Dual

Nebraska's cross country team has a tough assignment meeting the Kansas State Wildcats in a dual affair at the Pioneer three-mile course.

When the long day finally ended, husky Bob McCallister, bleary of eye and gritty of hair, found himself the leader with a 36-hole total of 145.

McCallister, a club pro and former college star from Corona, Calif., shot the low round for the day-a 74. That's three strokes over the Paradise Valley Country Club's par of 36-35-71.

"It was terrible. Every time you get in one of these you think it is the worst. But I think this was the worst."

He said that at times he was blown off balance by the winds and Nicklaus has a noticeably sturdy frame.

Nicklaus said he managed to keep his drives "quail-high," which is very low. But both he and Palmer had trouble around the greens. Chip shots and putts were apt to take off in any direction.

"This is the first time I ever drank a Coke and had waves in the cup," McCallister said before teeing off.

The dubious honor of the high score of the round went to Jerry Dugan, from Omaha, Neb., who had a 47-51-98 and a 157 over-all.

Grandma Wouldn't Do It

Before you hit me with the stinging words the next time you see me, "Ah, my grandmother could have picked them better than you did last week," I'll agree.

With that in mind after last week's disastrous 26 right, 21 wrong and three ties for a .550 percentage, dropping the season mark to 132 right, 68 wrong and five ties for .656, I thought of my grandmother.

But the dollar and a dime of the company money I spent calling her was squandered when she replied, "I noticed how lousy you were, but I think you've got the predictions so messed up now, no one could pick 'em right on your page."

She then offered me an alternative. "If you want to come home, I'll do all I can to get you a job in the Goodwill sewing on buttons on torn dresses," she offered. "But as dumb as you are, you'd probably sew the bottons on backwards."

When Eddie Lebsack even turned down the offer to take over as the picker in this two-column space, I knew I was in trouble. He said he was too busy trying to get his band assembled to greet the Nebraska alumni flying in from California.

So since this space must be filled with something, I'll have to try one more week:

Boys Town Threatens Pius' Ranking

. . . LINCOLN HIGH BATTLES KNIGHTS

By DON FORSYTHE
Prep Sports Writer

Lincoln High and Southeast put lofty Trans-Nebraska Conference ambitions on the block and Pius X and Boys Town clash in a game with possible state title overtones in Capital City football fare Friday night.

While these clubs are occupied in Lincoln, Northeast travels to Hastings to resume its Trans-Nebraska schedule.

Pius X, which whipped Boys Town four years ago and has since that time lost three straight to the Cowboys, risks its unbeaten mark in an 8 p.m Homecoming contest against the Cowboys.

"He runs like he had radar," says Pius X coach Vince Aldrich of the 185-pound junior who has zipped for 12 touchdowns thus far.

"Boys Town isn't as big this year, but they have a lot of quickness," he says of the club which brings a 4-1 record to Lincoln.

"I just hope we can contain their backs and hit them before they get out of the backfield," the coach of the unbeaten and second-ranked Thunderbolts observes.

Quarterback Craig Lutz, who missed the Bellevue game, will be out again this week.

"I thought Scott Dworak turned in a good job for us last week, and with another week to work on it we should be better off this week," says Southeast coach Bill Stephenson.

The switch of sure-handed Don Mohlman from quarterback to end three weeks ago has played a big part in the improvement of the Lincoln High attack.

Sugar Bowl To Watch Huskers

By HAL BROWN
Star Sports Editor

Two Sugar Bowl representatives will be among the press box occupants Saturday when Nebraska entertains Kansas State in a Homecoming Day contest at Memorial Stadium.

And those representatives, Dr. Fred Wolfe and Theo Maumus, will be hoping they can rub enough New Orleans magic off on Nebraskans that they'll want to spend their Christmas Holidays in the Louisiana area.

This year, the Sugar Bowl figures it will start a week earlier in its efforts to woo the Huskers. They first saw Nebraska in the sixth game last year, against Colorado. This year, they have come one game earlier.

But an appearance by bowl officials doesn't necessarily mean an invitation. This must be warranted by the performance on the field and Husker coach Bob Devaney is more concerned at the moment that his squad continue to show improvement than he is about bowl games.

The Huskers wound up drills Thursday afternoon for the Saturday test and had back Charlie Winters in uniform for the first time this week.

The Husker back has been confined to Student Health with a charlie horse and NU trainers said his status for Saturday was doubtful.

Devaney indicated Winters would not be used unless he were able to go full speed.

MERGER HOPES DIM

Celler Refuses 'Pig In Poke'

. . . LANGUAGE A PROBLEM

Washington (AP)—Hopes dimmed Thursday for Congressional approval of a bill that would clear the way for the merger of the National and American Football Leagues.

Lawyers for the combined leagues and the House Antitrust Subcommittee were unable to agree on language exempting the proposed merger from antitrust action.

With Congress hoping to adjourn next week and subcommittee chairman Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., declaring he wants to "plumb the depths" of the merger plan, there appears little chance the House will get to act on the bill.

Only the fact that a substantial majority of Celler's subcommittee favors the bill keeps alive a faint possibility that it might still squeeze through. If it doesn't, NFL Commissioner Pete Rozelle says he will urge that the merger be called off.

League lawyer Hamilton Carothers and subcommittee counsel Kenneth R. Harkins, who were asked by Celler Tuesday to try to draft a strictly limited bill, disclosed Thursday they are in fundamental disagreement.

Returning for a third session with the subcommittee, Carothers said Harkins' proposal for exempting the combining of the leagues is so narrow as to be meaningless. Harkins countered by saying Carothers wants a "blank check" exemption that would put the league's future operations outside the reach of the law.

In questioning Rozelle and Carothers, Harkins indicated concern that the merger agreement could lead to increased use of pay television by the member clubs.

It was the matter of future arrangements stemming from the merger that Celler and Harkins showed themselves to be in complete disagreement with Rozelle and Carothers. Celler said the exemption requested by the league would also exempt such future actions. Rozelle and Carothers insisted it would not.

Celler was prodded by subcommittee members to accept Rozelle's assurances on the point and speed action on the bill, but he refused to be hurried.

"Most members of the subcommittee are not familiar with all the details of this merger agreement," he said, "so in a sense we're being asked to buy a pig in a poke.

"Unfortunately, the Senate never held hearings on the bill they passed. I don't know what it does. We're like a blind man looking for a black cat in a dark room."

Husker Frosh Game Postponed

The football game between the Kansas State and Nebraska freshman teams was postponed from Friday until Monday at 2:30 p.m. in the Cornhuskers' Memorial Stadium.

Athletic directors Tippy Dye of Nebraska and Bebe Lee of Kansas State made a joint decision Thursday night in view of a weather forecast calling for heavy rains in the Lincoln area. The officials did not want to take the chance of tearing up the field before the K-State-Nebraska varsity game Saturday.

Meanwhile, Nebraska freshman grid coach John Melton's wife, Beverly, gave birth Thursday night to the couple's first son, Michael Robert, at Lincoln General Hospital. The child weighs five pounds, 13 ounces. The couple have two daughters, Cindy and Margy.

O-State Sharp In Final Practice

Stillwater, Okla. (AP)—Oklahoma State wound up preparations Thursday for its Saturday game with Missouri at Columbia and coach Phil Cutchin said the squad "looked sharp."

"That is, if you can tell much about them in sweat clothes," he added. "We'll know after the game whether we were ready."

. . . OFFENSE VS. DEFENSE

When an irresistable force meets an immovable object, somewhere, somehow, something has to give.

Coach Al Papik's Doane Tigers have shown the finest offense in the state in rolling to a 3-0 record so far. The Tigers are averaging over 290 yards rushing a game and a total offense of 389 yards an outing.

All this pitted aginst the state's best defense against scoring — Wesleyan's. Only one six pointer and five field goals have been notched against the Plainsmen on the way to a 4-0 standard.

If anything does give, Papik naturally hopes it's the Wesleyan defense because he's had enough of the Plainsmen defenders. Doane hasn't scored on NWU in the last three years.

"We were hoping to score last year," Papik says, "but I think our offense is better this year. All I can say is I hope we score enough Friday to win."

Overlooked in all the hoopla about Doane's offense is their fine defense. Tiger defenders have given up only 150 yards total offense per game. Their front five on defense averages 227 pounds, topped by end Fred Davis—a 245 pounder.

Sooners Have Good Practice

Norman, Okla. (AP) — "We had a pretty good practice and I hope we're ready to play against Kansas," Oklahoma football coach Jim Mackenzie said Thursday.

His squad went through a spirited 1:50 session in sweat clothes. Asked if the team was up for the game at Kansas Saturday, Mackenzie replied: "I think they realize what they are coming up against."

Midwest Boxing Club Sets Workout Slate

The Midwest Speedways Boxing Club will begin Golden Gloves workouts at 7 p.m. Monday at 4860 Cornhusker Highway.

Churchich Owns 5 Records

. . . BUT MUST SURRENDER ONE BIG EIGHT MARK

And in compliance with Big 8 regulations, he must surrender one other mark—most yards passing in a season. Churchich has been credited with that record on the basis of 893 yards in 1964, but Big Eight statistics include bowl games for career comparisons.

Therefore, Dennis Claridge is still the single-season passing yardage leader with 975 in 1962 (829 yards during the season, plus 146 yards in the Gotham Bowl. When you include Churchich's Cotton Bowl total (68 yards) he is still 14 shy of Claridge at 961.

Actually, the Husker star could pile up a new mark this year since he already has 551 yards, leaving him with 424 to go in at least six games.

Churchich isn't the only one to lose a record when Nebraska records are brought in line with the Big Eight policy of including bowl games in career totals and season totals.

Bobby Reynolds is erased from the career total offense mark, and Claridge steps into that spot, too. Reynolds has been listed as the leader with 2,336 yards, set from 1950 through 1952. But when you add in Gotham Bowl and Orange Bowl yardage to Claridge's total, he has the all-time high of 2,635.

Churchich can also become the total offense record holder, however, since he needs only 378 yards.

Here is the record-book revision, done to bring Nebraska statistics into line with the Big Eight which includes bowl games, as pertains to Churchich:

CHURCHICH RECORDS

Pass Completions, Career — 150, still open.
Passing Yardage, Career — 2,149, still open.
Touchdown Passes, Career — 15, still open.

RECORD POSSIBILITIES

Pass Completions, One Season — 65 (Dennis Claridge, 1962), . . . Churchich needs 18.
Touchdown Passes, One Season — 9 (Fran Nagle, 1950), . . . Churchich needs 8.

—CONTENDERS IN 5 YEARS—

McPhail Outlines Yankee Fortunes

New York (AP) — The New York Yankees coaxed Lee MacPhail out of the baseball commissioner's office and hired him as their front office boss Thursday in hopes he'll help them rebound from their most disastrous season in more than a half century.

He estimated it would take about five years for the Yanks to regain a contending position.

"This is not a 10th place club, but we've got a long row to hoe," said the 48-year-old former president and general manager of the Baltimore Orioles. "I don't think we can expect to be a contender next year unless we get a lot of breaks that we can't anticipate now."

MacPhail agreed to a three-year contract as executive vice-president and general manager of the Yankees, effective Dec. 3 when he leaves his present position as administrative assistant to William D. Eckert. He became a member of the commissioner's staff 11 months ago at an estimated salary of $40,000.

Terms of his salary agreement with the Yankees were not revealed. However, it is believed he will get about $75,000 annually.

"The Yankee ball club now is a better one than the one in Baltimore when I took over there," MacPhail insisted. "What we need most is a good right-handed hitting outfielder and a stopper in the bullpen. We'd like to trade to strengthen these positions."

MacPhail took over as general manager of the sixth-place Orioles in November of 1958 and is credited with having helped them reach their present status as baseball's world champions. Before leaving the Orioles last November he negotiated the trade that brought Frank Robinson to Baltimore from Cincinnati. The latter captured the American League's triple crown the past season.

"We don't plan wholesale changes, but we hope to deal more now than the Yankees have in the past," MacPhail said at a press conference at which Michael Burke, the new team president, and manager Ralph Houk also were present.

I-State Bomber Can Come Back Next Autumn

Stotz dropped out of school voluntarily after he was fined $500 and given a three-month suspended jail term for burying an explosive device under the turf of Clyde Williams Field the night before the ISU-Nebraska football game Oct. 1.

The bomb was set off by a turf rolling machine about three hours before kickoff time, and nobody was hurt.

Stotz said later he only did it to stir up some excitement over the game.

McQuagg Makes 2nd Run Count

Charlotte, N.C. (AP)—Georgia country boy Sam McQuagg made good on a second chance Thursday and led second day qualifying for Sunday's National 500 stock car race.

McQuagg, driving a Dodge Charger, was the victim of a flagman's error in his first six-mile try at gaining an upfront berth in the 44-car field for the $75,000-plus race. An official qualifying run is four laps around the 1.5-mile Charlotte Motor Speedway.

McQuagg, 32, had made only three laps when he got the checkered flag. He returned to the pits, but after the 4 p.m. time trial deadline had passed a check by the official scorer disclosed the error and McQuagg was given a second chance as dusk approached.

He responded by posting 148.005 miles per hour, seventh fastest of the week. It earned him ninth position in the starting order.

Lions Sign Cyprian Place-Kicking Standout

Detroit (AP) — The Detroit Lions Thursday signed a soccer-style place kicker and then turned to the U.S. government to get permission for him to play.

Yepremian must get a temporary work permit before he can play for the Lions. "We should know in a day or two," said Elliott Trumbull, Lion publicity man.

Yepremian came to this country last June to visit a brother, Krikor Yepremian, at Indianapolis. Krikor had been in this country eight years.

Garo sought to enroll at Indiana University and Butler University, but he lacked a high school diploma. Kirkor, soccer captain at Indiana U in 1963, showed Garo how to kick a football.

He worked out with the Atlanta Falcons Tuesday and they were impressed, but took no immediate action.

A Lion spokesman said Garo had asked the Lions for a tryout and they gave it to him Wednesday. The conditional signing followed. If his work permit is granted, he will be activated in time for Sunday's game with Baltimore.

Terms of the contract were not given.

Stallings, Randle To Play With Broken Hands

St. Louis (AP)—Two St. Louis Cardinal starters—linebacker Larry Stallings and split end Sonny Randle—will be playing with broken hands Sunday when the undefeated Cardinals meet the unbeaten Dallas Cowboys.

"The Cowboys are the fastest team in the National Football League," said Cardinal coach Charley Winner of the offensive powerhouse that has scored 25 touchdowns this season.

"Stallings and Randle will be able to play because their hands will be protected by casts," said Winner.

Pensacola Navy Pits Experience Against Scotts

Scottsbluff—If experience is a key to success, the Scotts from Hiram Scott should have their hands full when they play host to the Pensacola Naval Air Station Saturday evening.

The whole offensive unit, from the pro-type flanker-T attack to the strong right arm of quarterback Jim Parker, is built around the passing game. The 6-1, 195-pound Parker, according to head coach Bob Moss, has all the potential of becoming the finest quarterback in Goshawk history.

A second team all-Atlantic Coast Conference selection while playing for Clemson, Parker came within a wisp of making the San Diego Chargers in 1964. But that was the year an aging Tobin Rote decided to play one more season, and the Chargers sent Parker to a farm club for seasoning.

Cyclones End Heavy Drills

Reserve tailback Gary King was running with the second unit but was limping with a knee and leg injury.

Punt Returner

Baltimore (UPI) — Alvin Raymond of the Baltimore Colts set a National Football League mark in the 1965 season by returning 41 punts. He picked up 403 yards on the runs, far short of the record 555 yards gaines by Bill Grimes returning punts for the 1950 Green Bay Packers.

Do you earn too much to afford one?

They're afraid nobody will know they have any money, if it doesn't show in their car. In other words, they buy their car for other people. Not themselves.

Then there are those who earn enough to buy a much better car than the VW. But don't. Because they can't find one.

For them the best car is one that simply gets them there. Comfortably and economically. One they don't have to worry about. That doesn't make many stops for gas. And rare repairs don't cost much. A car where the car doesn't cost much.

Now next time you see somebody in a VW don't feel sorry for him.

Elks Bowling Older, But Stronger

. . . LEAGUE FILLS HOLLYWOOD BOWL ON TUESDAY NIGHTS

By JOHN HINES
Star Sports Writer

After more than a quarter of a century, the Lincoln Elks bowling league is still growing stronger year by year in city kegling circles.

The Elks association, one of the city's two oldest, has expanded to 24 teams this year and can now stretch from one end to the other when they roll in their new 24-lane surroundings at Hollywood Bowl this season. The only bigger leagues in the state are in Omaha.

This long-standing league is the first in the history of this city to have 24 teams in a single league and not many others can boast that they can occupy the entire house at one time.

As Hollywood assistant Erv Plock remembers it, the Lincoln Elks Lodge No. 80 formed a six-team league, "around the 1938-39 season," just about the same time that the Lincoln Businessmen's circuit was formed. Which was actually first is not readily available through the yellowed pages of old record books, but both started at roughly the same time and both have continued without interruption, even during wartime.

Plock was one of the first Elks bowlers and adds the names of Hollywood manager Frank Roberts, Ralph Connell, and Glen Roshon as other original members still at it every Tuesday night.

The league has expanded from six to eight to 12 to 16 teams, finally increasing to 24 for this season and moving from Bowl-Mor to Hollywood. The Elks also bowled at now non-existent Rosewild and Lincoln Lanes in the early years.

There is a different sponsor among Lincoln business firms for each of the 24 teams, although brothers Bob and Carl Hudson, proprietors of local bottling firms, have been at it the longest, since 1940. "No one else has done as much for the league as they have," Plock asserts.

Plock describes the Elks league, "as better than average," in ability. One of the top performances in league history was by Jack Jensen with a 708 series in the Elks sectional tourney at Rapid City, S.D., this past spring. A foul on the last frame of the last game cost him the championship.

The sectional is one of two annual tournaments that is exclusive property of the Elks. The order holds a state tournament (headed for Grand Island in the spring of 1967), as well as a sectional meet encompassing the area from Illinois to California. The ABC tournaments are bypassed in favor of these.

Past sectional meets were hosted by Rockford, Ill., Denver, St. Paul, Des Moines, Rapid City, Elgin, Ill. (next spring), as well as Lincoln, which is slated to host the 1968 meet.

Current officers are Al Safranck, president; Ray Jensen, vice-president, and Roshon, secretary-treasurer. Jack Jensen was past exalted ruler last year, a post Howard Spahnle now holds. Spahnle recalls that at first the Elks teams were named after lodge officers and that the rules were relaxed so that non-Elks could bowl. Now only Elks from Lodge No. 80 in Lincoln are eligible.

Connell was league secretary about 10 years, serving longer in that capacity than any other man.

There are 120 active participants in the one single evening at Hollywood among the 3,200 members of Lodge No. 80. About a dozen alternates are carried by the various teams.

Churchich Owns 5 Records

. . . BUT MUST SURRENDER ONE BIG EIGHT MARK

A re-check of the record books indicates Nebraska quarterback Bobby Churchich now is credited with five Cornhusker passing records.

And in compliance with Big 8 regulations, he must surrender one other mark—most yards passing in a season. Churchich has been credited with that record on the basis of 893 yards in 1964, but Big Eight statistics include bowl games for career comparisons.

Therefore, Dennis Claridge is still the single-season passing yardage leader with 975 in 1962 (829 yards during the season, plus 146 yards in the Gotham Bowl. When you include Churchich's Cotton Bowl total (68 yards) he is still 14 shy of Claridge at 961.

Actually, the Husker star could pile up a new mark this year since he already has 551 yards, leaving him with 424 to go in at least six games.

Churchich isn't the only one to lose a record when Nebraska records are brought in line with the Big Eight policy of including bowl games in career totals and season totals.

Bobby Reynolds is erased from the career total offense mark, and Claridge steps into that spot, too. Reynolds has been listed as the leader with 2,336 yards, set from 1950 through 1952. But when you add in Gotham Bowl and Orange Bowl yardage to Claridge's total, he has the all-time high of 2,635.

Churchich can also become the total offense record holder, however, since he needs only 378 yards.

Here is the record-book revision, done to bring Nebraska statistics into line with the Big Eight which includes bowl games, as pertains to Churchich:

CHURCHICH RECORDS

Pass Completions, Career — 150, still open.

Passing Yardage, Career — 2,149, still open.

Touchdown Passes, Career — 15, still open.

RECORD POSSIBILITIES

—CONTENDERS IN 5 YEARS—

McPhail Outlines Yankee Fortunes

New York (AP) — The New York Yankees coaxed Lee MacPhail out of the baseball commissioner's office and hired him as their front office boss Thursday in hopes he'll help them rebound from their most disastrous season in more than a half century.

He estimated it would take about five years for the Yanks to regain a contending position.

"This is not a 10th place club, but we've got a long row to hoe," said the 48-year-old former president and general manager of the Baltimore Orioles. "I don't think we can expect to be a contender next year unless we get a lot of breaks that we can't anticipate now."

MacPhail agreed to a three-year contract as executive vice-president and general manager of the Yankees, effective Dec. 3 when he leaves his present position as administrative assistant to William D. Eckert. He became a member of the commissioner's staff 11 months ago at an estimated salary of $40,000.

Terms of his salary agreement with the Yankees were not revealed. However, it is believed he will get about $75,000 annually.

"The Yankee ball club now is a better one than the one in Baltimore when I took over there," MacPhail insisted. "What we need most is a good right-handed hitting outfielder and a stopper in the bullpen. We'd like to trade to strengthen these positions."

MacPhail took over as general manager of the sixth-place Orioles in November of 1958 and is credited with having helped them reach their present status as baseball's world champions. Before leaving the Orioles last November he negotiated the trade that brought Frank Robinson to Baltimore from Cincinnati. The latter captured the American League's triple crown the past season.

"We don't plan wholesale changes, but we hope to deal more now than the Yankees have in the past," MacPhail said at a press conference at which Michael Burke, the new team president, and manager Ralph Houk also were present.

I-State Bomber Can Come Back Next Autumn

Ames, Iowa (AP) — A Davenport youth convicted of planting a homemade bomb on the Iowa State University football field may apply for readmission to the school next fall.

Stotz dropped out of school voluntarily after he was fined $500 and given a three-month suspended jail term for burying an explosive device under the turf of Clyde Williams Field the night before the ISU-Nebraska football game Oct. 1.

The bomb was set off by a turf rolling machine about three hours before kickoff time, and nobody was hurt.

Stotz said later he only did it to stir up some excitement over the game.

McQuagg Makes 2nd Run Count

Charlotte, N.C. (AP)—Georgia country boy Sam McQuagg made good on a second chance Thursday and led second day qualifying for Sunday's National 500 stock car race.

McQuagg, driving a Dodge Charger, was the victim of a flagman's error in his first six-mile try at gaining an upfront berth in the 44-car field for the $75,000-plus race. An official qualifying run is four laps around the 1.5-mile Charlotte Motor Speedway.

McQuagg, 32, had made only three laps when he got the checkered flag. He returned to the pits, but after the 4 p.m. timo trial deadline had passed a check by the official scorer disclosed the error and McQuagg was given a second chance as dusk approached.

He responded by posting 148.005 miles per hour, seventh fastest of the week. It earned him ninth position in the starting order.

Lions Sign Cyprian Place-Kicking Standout

Detroit (AP) — The Detroit Lions Thursday signed a soccer-style place kicker and then turned to the U.S. government to get permission for him to play.

"He's the best kicker I've ever seen," said Wayne Walker, the Lions' veteran place-kicking specialist.

Yepremian must get a temporary work permit before he can play for the Lions. "We should know in a day or two," said Elliott Trumbull, Lion publicity man.

Yepremian came to this country last June to visit a brother, Krikor Yepremian, at Indianapolis. Krikor had been in this country eight years.

Garo sought to enroll at Indiana University and Butler University, but he lacked a high school diploma. Kirkor, soccer captain at Indiana U in 1963, showed Garo how to kick a football.

He worked out with the Atlanta Falcons Tuesday and they were impressed, but took no immediate action.

A Lion spokesman said Garo had asked the Lions for a tryout and they gave it to him Wednesday. The conditional signing followed. If his work permit is granted, he will be activated in time for Sunday's game with Baltimore.

Terms of the contract were not given.

Stallings, Randle To Play With Broken Hands

St. Louis (AP)—Two St. Louis Cardinal starters—linebacker Larry Stallings and split end Sonny Randle—will be playing with broken hands Sunday when the undefeated Cardinals meet the unbeaten Dallas Cowboys.

"The Cowboys are the fastest team in the National Football League," said Cardinal coach Charley Winner of the offensive powerhouse that has scored 25 touchdowns this season.

"Stallings and Randle will be able to play because their hands will be protected by casts," said Winner.

Athletics Will Operate Phoenix Winter Club

Kansas City (AP) — The Kansas City Athletics announced Thursday they will operate a team in Phoenix, Ariz., this winter in the Arizona Instructional League. It will open a 42-game schedule Saturday.

The A's will be in the Arizona League for the first time. This is also the first winter instructional league team for the A's since 1964 when they were in Brandenton, Fla., in the Florida Instructional League

No Losers

University Park, Pa. (UPI) — Penn State has gone through 27 consecutive football seasons without a losing record. A 5-5 season in 1965 was the closest year to a non-winning season in that span of time.

Ted Williams' Wife Wins Divorce Suit

Miami, Fla. (AP)—Ted Williams' wife, Lee, won a divorce and $50,000 Thursday on grounds of mental cruelty after 2½ years of marriage.

Mrs. Williams charged that her husband, Hall of Fame ballplayer and $100,000-a-year star of the Boston Red Sox until he retired in 1960, made life unbearable for her with constant obscene criticism.

Atlanta (AP) — Unconditional release waivers were asked on catcher Ed Sadowski Thursday by the Atlanta Braves so he can be named a coach for their Richmond farm club.

Pensacola Navy Pits Experience Against Scotts

Scottsbluff—If experience is a key to success, the Scotts from Hiram Scott should have their hands full when they play host to the Pensacola Naval Air Station Saturday evening.

The whole offensive unit, from the pro-type flanker-T attack to the strong right arm of quarterback Jim Parker, is built around the passing game. The 6-1, 195-pound Parker, according to head coach Bob Moss, has all the potential of becoming the finest quarterback in Goshawk history.

A second team all-Atlantic Coast Conference selection while playing for Clemson, Parker came within a wisp of making the San Diego Chargers in 1964. But that was the year an aging Tobin Rote decided to play one more season, and the Chargers sent Parker to a farm club for seasoning.

Cyclones End Heavy Drills

Coach Clay Stapleton said he was still unsure whether a couple of injured players would be ready for the game.

Greg Dukstein, sophomore split end, was running with the first unit in place of Eppie Barney, who has been slowed by a back injury.

Reserve tailback Gary King was running with the second unit but was limping with a knee and leg injury.

Punt Returner

Baltimore (UPI) — Alvin Raymond of the Baltimore Colts set a National Football League mark in the 1965 season by returning 41 punts. He picked up 403 yards on the runs, far short of the record 555 yards gaines by Bill Grimes returning punts for the 1950 Green Bay Packers.

Do you earn too much to afford one?

It doesn't cost enough.

They're afraid nobody will know they have any money, if it doesn't show in their car. In other words, they buy their car for other people. Not themselves.

Then there are those who earn enough to buy a much better car than the VW. But don't. Because they can't find one.

For them the best car is one that simply gets them there. Comfortably and economically. One they don't have to worry about. That doesn't make many stops for gas. And rare repairs don't cost much. A car where the car doesn't cost much.

Now next time you see somebody in a VW don't feel sorry for him.

Jury Acquits Negro Teen-Ager Of Brooklyn Gunshot Slaying

A state Supreme Court jury, including two Negro men, deliberated for more than six hours before finding Ernest Gallashaw, 17, innocent in the slaying of Eric Dean, 11.

Gallashaw, who had taken the stand in his own defense, embraced his mother, father, a brother and two sisters in the courtroom minutes after the verdict was announced.

After the verdict, cheered wildly by courtroom spectators, Gallashaw said he was going to finish high school "and try to become a detective on the New York police."

Gallashaw's attorney, Paul O'Dwyer, in summing up to the jury said the police and the district attorney's office picked a Negro instead of a white boy as the defendant so as to "put out the fire" in the then racially troubled East New York area.

"It was the wish of the community that if the (slain) boy was shot by another Negro, it would put out the fire. It was also the wish of the prosecutor and the . . . police department," O'Dwyer said.

The defense attorney added that "there's something very strange going on in this case."

Officials Shown Business Concept At Open House

A new firm, Executape Systems Inc., a subsidiary of Central Laboratories, will be developing programs allowing a travelling businessman to "learn while travelling," said Robert E. Lookabaugh, president of the new corporation.

Representatives of local and state government, along with Chamber of Commerce officials and local and area business executives were shown the new and expanded facilities of Central Laboratories and introduced to the new Lincoln business.

Executape Vice President Arthur E. Taylor said that making productive use of hitherto non-productive travelling time will be the major theme of the company.

Subandrio's Death Asked

Winding up the state's case in the treason trial of President Sukarno's one-time No. 2 man, the military court prosecutor made the death demand at the end of a four-hour sumup.

Subandrio, sitting alone facing the military judges, remained quiet and impassive after the death penalty was asked.

Officials Shown Business Concept At Open House

A new concept in business communications was unveiled Thursday during an open house held at Central Laboratories, Inc., 4700 Fremont.

A new firm, Executape Systems Inc., a subsidiary of Central Laboratories, will be developing programs allowing a travelling businessman to "learn while travelling," said Robert E. Lookabaugh, president of the new corporation.

Representatives of local and state government, along with Chamber of Commerce officials and local and area business executives were shown the new and expanded facilities of Central Laboratories and introduced to the new Lincoln business.

Executape Vice President Arthur E. Taylor said that making productive use of hitherto non-productive travelling time will be the major theme of the company.

Subandrio's Death Asked

Winding up the state's case in the treason trial of President Sukarno's one-time No. 2 man, the military court prosecutor made the death demand at the end of a four-hour sumup.

Subandrio, sitting alone facing the military judges, remained quiet and impassive after the death penalty was asked.

Jury Acquits Negro Teen-Ager Of Brooklyn Gunshot Slaying

A state Supreme Court jury, including two Negro men, deliberated for more than six hours before finding Ernest Gallashaw, 17, innocent in the slaying of Eric Dean, 11.

Gallashaw, who had taken the stand in his own defense, embraced his mother, father, a brother and two sisters in the courtroom minutes after the verdict was announced.

Dean was shot July 21 as he stood in the midst of a milling group of Negroes and whites in the East New York section of Brooklyn.

Sporadic racial violence preceded and followed the shooting.

After the verdict, cheered wildly by courtroom spectators, Gallashaw said he was going to finish high school "and try to become a detective on the New York police."

Gallashaw's attorney, Paul O'Dwyer, in summing up to the jury said the police and the district attorney's office picked a Negro instead of a white boy as the defendant so as to "put out the fire" in the then racially troubled East New York area.

"It was the wish of the community that if the (slain) boy was shot by another Negro, it would put out the fire. It was also the wish of the prosecutor and the . . . police department," O'Dwyer said.

Recovery Falters In Stock Market

New York (AP) — The big stock market recovery faltered on its fourth session Thursday as stocks displayed a jumbled pattern. Some averages were down sharply even though more stocks rose than fell.

As reflected by the Dow Jones industrial average, the list spurted 7.18 in the first half hour then declined for the rest of the day, ending with a loss of 5.24 at 772.93. From their top to their bottom, therefore, the Dow industrials moved downward 12.42 points. Wednesday they advanced 19.54.

Once again, the market was groping for a more solid and reliable base from which the major downtrend could be reversed eventually, brokers said.

Trading was heavy. Volume totaled 8.68 million shares compared with 6.92 million Wednesday.

Gainers outnumbered losers by 735 to 47 among the 1,428 issues traded on the New York Stock Exchange. Highs for the year totaled 9 and lows 25.

The relatively sharp downward move by industrials was accounted for by some heavily weighted blue chips. Du Pont sank 4½, Standard Oil New Jersey 1¼, General Motors 1, Chrysler 1¼ and AT&T 1⅛.

Ten of the 15 most-active stocks fell, 2 rose and 3 were unchanged.

EVERYBODY'S MONEY:

Economic Illiteracy Persists Despite Improved Education

By Merryle S. Rukeyser

The hysteria in Wall Street both on the down and up sides constitutes a reminder that in this age of specialization some are ignorant on subjects outside their own field.

Despite the multiplication of the school and college population, it's questionable how much net progress has been made since the beginning of the century when Frank A. Vanderlip, one-time president of the National City Bank of New York, complained about the state of economic illiteracy in the United States.

For example, while driving to an appointment, this writer heard a radio commentator interpret the raising of the top rate on veterans' mortgages to six per cent as part of the strategy to combat inflation. On the contrary, the move was designed to stop an impasse, caused by below market fixed rates, which kept capital from flowing into mortgages on such homes. The change was an adjustment to supply and demand factors in the money market. The change, if anything, added to inflation by further expanding effective demand.

Many Things

President Johnson at his press conference was asked to interpret the significance of the stock price decline which knocked more than a quarter of the top layer off the Dow Jones Industrial average. He answered: "I think a good many things have a bearing on market fluctuations. I think the high interest rates; I think the attractiveness of other securities; I think some of the uncertainties that exist concerning how much money the Government itself will be spending next year; I think the question of doubt about our tax policy — all of those are given weight to."

The President added that 1966 would be the most prosperous year on record, and that 1967 would be as good.

While the market factors mentioned by the President may be more or less relevant, they don't tell the entire story of the decline in confidence.

Readers of this column should be less disturbed than some because during the earlier extended rise of security prices the column repeatedly expressed skepticism of the view that politicians had outlawed fluctuations and assured a perpetual non-stop boom.

With so much at stake nationally and globally, this comment is not made for personal reasons. On the contrary, the record is disclosed in order to clarify the fact that superficial observers, who mistakenly transmitted political propaganda earlier, may be equally in error during the corrective period in excessive pessimism.

Competition

It is perfectly true, as the President implied, that long-bulled stock prices eventually came into competition with other securities, namely "no growth," high grade bonds.

Bernard M. Baruch, the eminent stock market operator and adviser to six Presidents, was wont to stress the crucial importance of timing. It is of little value after stocks have fallen out of bed to observe about the "attractiveness of other securities."

Last year when stock average prices were rising sharply, this column carried a report of a statistical analysis which showed that relatively low risk bonds were offering a spectacularly higher return than speculative shares. This relationship was highly abnormal and represented a reversal of the traditional ratios.

High interest rates stem from federal fiscal and monetary policy—from the heterodox move to stimulate an already growing national economy with planned annual budgetary deficits. The experiment was tolerable for a time when rising economic activity was still below productive capacity. But this changed some months ago.

Excessive Spending

The inflationary pressures flow from excessive total spending at a time when maximum demands have also been made by consumers for both soft goods and durable items and while industry has been making the biggest outlay in history for capital goods.

Meanwhile, the administration, hesitant about raising taxes in an election year, has given the stock market the artificial additional worry of uncertainty. Likewise, inability of the White House to set appropriations ceiling in a Congress in which its party holds two thirds of the votes has added to the guesswork.

But there is confusion of thought in identifying stock price weakness with the growth of inflation. Certainly, though inflation is objectionable in the long run, temporarily it benefits stocks and hurts bonds.

(Mr. Rukeyser will be pleased to receive inquiries from readers concerning their financial problems. Letters with self-addressed, stamped envelopes should be sent in care of The Lincoln Star. Questions of general interest will be answered in the column.)

Old West Note

Sierra Blanca, Tex. (UPI) — The Texas Highway Department has added a topical note from the Old West to its roadside parks: at one of the rest and picnic areas near Sierra Blanca, the tables and benches that beckon the traveler are shaded by roofs in a teepee design, with bright decorations on them.

Recovery Falters In Stock Market

New York (AP) — The big stock market recovery faltered on its fourth session Thursday as stocks displayed a jumbled pattern. Some averages were down sharply even though more stocks rose than fell.

A temporary pause in a straight-up rise is the rule rather than the exception and, in the words of Bache & Co., "caused little disappointment."

As reflected by the Dow Jones industrial average, the list spurted 7.18 in the first half hour then declined for the rest of the day, ending with a loss of 5.24 at 772.93. From their top to their bottom, therefore, the Dow industrials moved downward 12.42 points. Wednesday they advanced 19.54.

Once again, the market was groping for a more solid and reliable base from which the major downtrend could be reversed eventually, brokers said.

Trading was heavy. Volume totaled 8.68 million shares compared with 6.92 million Wednesday.

Gainers outnumbered losers by 735 to 47 among the 1,428 issues traded on the New York Stock Exchange. Highs for the year totaled 9 and lows 25.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks dropped .7 to 279.7 with industrials off 2.7, rails up .3 and utilities up .8.

The relatively sharp downward move by industrials was accounted for by some heavily weighted blue chips. Du Pont sank 4½, Standard Oil New Jersey 1¼, General Motors 1, Chrysler 1¼ and AT&T 1⅛.

Ten of the 15 most-active stocks fell, 2 rose and 3 were unchanged.

EVERYBODY'S MONEY:

Economic Illiteracy Persists Despite Improved Education

By Merryle S. Rukeyser

The hysteria in Wall Street both on the down and up sides constitutes a reminder that in this age of specialization some are ignorant on subjects outside their own field.

Despite the multiplication of the school and college population, it's questionable how much net progress has been made since the beginning of the century when Frank A. Vanderlip, one-time president of the National City Bank of New York, complained about the state of economic illiteracy in the United States.

Nowadays, faster techniques of communication multiply the dissemination of illusions and misconceptions.

For example, while driving to an appointment, this writer heard a radio commentator interpret the raising of the top rate on veterans' mortgages to six per cent as part of the strategy to combat inflation. On the contrary, the move was designed to stop an impasse, caused by below market fixed rates, which kept capital from flowing into mortgages on such homes. The change was an adjustment to supply and demand factors in the money market. The change, if anything, added to inflation by further expanding effective demand.

Many Things

President Johnson at his press conference was asked to interpret the significance of the stock price decline which knocked more than a quarter of the top layer off the Dow Jones Industrial average. He answered: "I think a good many things have a bearing on market fluctuations. I think the high interest rates; I think the attractiveness of other securities; I think some of the uncertainties that exist concerning how much money the Government itself will be spending next year; I think the question of doubt about our tax policy — all of those are given weight to."

The President added that 1966 would be the most prosperous year on record, and that 1967 would be as good.

While the market factors mentioned by the President may be more or less relevant, they don't tell the entire story of the decline in confidence.

Readers of this column should be less disturbed than some because during the earlier extended rise of security prices the column repeatedly expressed skepticism of the view that politicians had outlawed fluctuations and assured a perpetual non-stop boom.

With so much at stake nationally and globally, this comment is not made for personal reasons. On the contrary, the record is disclosed in order to clarify the fact that superficial observers, who mistakenly transmitted political propaganda earlier, may be equally in error during the corrective period in excessive pessimism.

Competition

It is perfectly true, as the President implied, that long-bulled stock prices eventually came into competition with other securities, namely "no growth," high grade bonds.

Bernard M. Baruch, the eminent stock market operator and adviser to six Presidents, was wont to stress the crucial importance of timing. It is of little value after stocks have fallen out of bed to observe about the "attractiveness of other securities."

Last year when stock average prices were rising sharply, this column carried a report of a statistical analysis which showed that relatively low risk bonds were offering a spectacularly higher return than speculative shares. This relationship was highly abnormal and represented a reversal of the traditional ratios.

High interest rates stem from federal fiscal and monetary policy—from the heterodox move to stimulate an already growing national economy with planned annual budgetary deficits. The experiment was tolerable for a time when rising economic activity was still below productive capacity. But this changed some months ago.

Excessive Spending

The inflationary pressures flow from excessive total spending at a time when maximum demands have also been made by consumers for both soft goods and durable items and while industry has been making the biggest outlay in history for capital goods.

Meanwhile, the administration, hesitant about raising taxes in an election year, has given the stock market the artificial additional worry of uncertainty. Likewise, inability of the White House to set appropriations ceiling in a Congress in which its party holds two thirds of the votes has added to the guesswork.

But there is confusion of thought in identifying stock price weakness with the growth of inflation. Certainly, though inflation is objectionable in the long run, temporarily it benefits stocks and hurts bonds.

(Mr. Rukeyser will be pleased to receive inquiries from readers concerning their financial problems. Letters with self-addressed, stamped envelopes should be sent in care of The Lincoln Star. Questions of general interest will be answered in the column.)

Old West Note

Sierra Blanca, Tex. (UPI) — The Texas Highway Department has added a topical note from the Old West to its roadside parks: at one of the rest and picnic areas near Sierra Blanca, the tables and benches that beckon the traveler are shaded by roofs in a teepee design, with bright decorations on them.

Singing Nun At It Again

Brussels (AP)—Sister Luc Gabrielle, the singing nun whose record "Dominique" once was a best seller, has taken up guitar and microphone again, her convent announced, after completion of three-year mass media and religion-science studies at Louvain University.

It said she would continue as a nun and serve as "missionary without veil" having "closer contacts with the world," and it announced she has made a new record.
